BUTTERFLY

From Refugee to Olympian, My Story of Rescue, Hope and Triumph

Yusra Mardini

The awe-inspiring true story of Yusra Mardini, Syrian refugee and Olympic swimmer

Yusra Mardini fled her native Syria to the Turkish coast in 2015 and boarded a small dinghy full of refugees bound for Greece. When the small and overcrowded boat's engine cut out, it began to sink. Yusra, her sister and two others took to the water, pushing the boat from for three and a half hours in open water until they eventually landed on Lesbos, saving the lives of the passengers aboard.

This is the story of that remarkable woman, whose journey started in a war torn suburb of Damascus and took her through Europe to Berlin, to the 2016 Olympic Games in Rio de Janeiro.

Yusra Mardini is an athlete, one of People magazine's 25 women changing the world, a UN Goodwill Ambassador and one of Time Magazine's 30 most influential teens of 2016.

'Yusra reminds us of the human cost of the tragedy and the incredible fortitude, perseverance and hope of one young woman who struggles for a future.'* - Stephen Daldry, Director of Billy Elliot

Yusra Mardini is an Olympic swimmer and Syrian refugee who, in 2015, fled her hometown of Damascus when it became too dangerous to live in the war-torn country. In 2016 Mardini swam with the Refugee Olympic Team and is subsequently named a UNHCR Goodwill Ambassador. She lives in Berlin and is training for the 2020 Olympics.

THE GENIUS WITHIN

Smart Pills, Brain Hacks and Adventures in Intelligence David Adam

'Witty, sharp and enlightening... This book will make you smarter' - Adam Rutherford

What if you have more intelligence than you realize? What if there is a genius inside you, just waiting to be released? And what if the route to better brain power is not hard work or thousands of hours of practice but to simply swallow a pill?

In The Genius Within, bestselling author David Adam explores the ground-breaking neuroscience of cognitive enhancement that is changing the way the brain and the mind works – to make it better, sharper, more focused and, yes, more intelligent. Sharing his own experiments with revolutionary smart drugs and electrical brain stimulation, he delves into the sinister history of intelligence tests, meets savants and brain hackers and reveals how he boosted his own IQ to cheat his way into Mensa.

Going to the heart of how we consider, measure and judge mental ability, The Genius Within asks difficult questions about the science that could rank and define us, and inevitably shape our future.

Dr David Adam is a writer and editor at Nature, the world's leading scientific journal. Before that he was a specialist correspondent on the Guardian for seven years, writing on science, medicine and the environment. His previous title is the acclaimed The Man Who Couldn't Stop.

Praise for The Man Who Couldn't Stop:

'A fundamentally important book that will bring a breath of fresh understanding to sufferers... It will make you think again' - Sunday Times

THIS IS GOING TO HURT Secret Diaries of a Junior Doctor Adam Kay

#2 Sunday Times bestseller
TV rights sold after a twelve-way auction

The often hilarious, at times horrifying and occasionally heartbreaking diaries of a former junior doctor, and the story of why he decided to hang up his stethoscope

‘Painfully funny. The pain and the funniness somehow add up to something entirely good, entirely noble and entirely loveable.’ - Stephen Fry

‘Witty, wise and frequently moving, This is Going to Hurt should be required reading for anyone who wants to be a doctor. And, frankly, anyone who might expect to cross a hospital’s threshold.’ - Mail on Sunday

‘I howled, yelped and occasionally choked with laughter... (...) This book may hurt, but in an important and necessary way.’ - Cathy Rentzenbrink

‘Blisteringly funny, politically enraging and often heartbreaking...’ - Hannah Beckerman, Sunday Express

‘A heartening, laugh-out-loud confessional on the indignities and quiet joys of being a junior doctor. Anchoring the wisecracks is Kay's heartfelt respect for Britain's junior doctors and the ignoble realities of a noble profession.’ - Financial Times

Adam Kay is a writer and script editor for TV and film. During his transition from doctor to writer he established himself as a musical comedian as frontman of Amateur Transplants, achieving great success and over 20 million YouTube hits. He lives in London.

DUTCH LIGHT

Christiaan Huygens and the Making of Science in Europe

Hugh Aldersey-Williams

The untold story of the Huygens family, movers and shakers of the Dutch Golden Age

The Huygens were a family of intellectuals who would have Rembrandt and Descartes to dinner on the same night. The patriarch, Constantijn Huygens, had been a diplomat and an advisor to the House of Orange, but he was also an artist who corresponded with Galileo and Mersenne. Susanna Huygens, his wife, was mathematically gifted, and well-connected too through her wealthy merchant family.

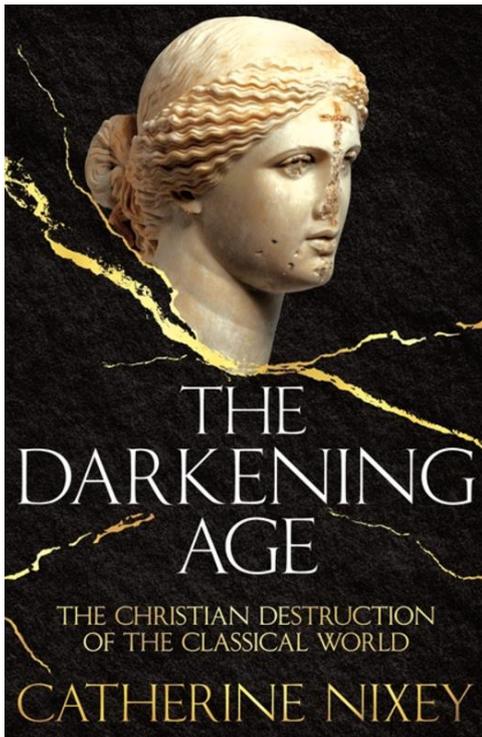

Christiaan Huygens, one of their children, then became Europe's leading scientist, and in an age when scientists kept their discoveries close, Christiaan actively encouraged an international fellowship of ideas which stretched from Leibniz in Germany to Pierre de Fermat and Blaise Pascal in France and Robert Hooke and John Locke in Britain.

Dutch Light is the story of the Huygens, but it is also a fascinating and vivid portrait of a place and time in science, industry and culture – a period that saw an unprecedented expansion of ideas and vision, that changed our understanding of the world - and weaves together the contributions of a number of personalities, connected by family as much as by scientific sympathies.

Hugh Aldersey-Williams is the Sunday Times bestseller writer of Periodic Tales (2012), Anatomies (2014) and The Sunday "Must Read" book Tide: The Science and Lore of the Greatest Force on Earth (2016).

THE DARKENING AGE

Catherine Nixey

A gripping account of how the early Christians annihilated the art and teachings of the Classical world from a brilliant young historian

The Darkening Age is the largely unknown story of how a militant religion comprehensively and deliberately extinguished the teachings of the Classical world, ushering in centuries of unquestioning adherence to 'one true faith'.

Despite the long-held notion that the early Christians were meek and mild, going to their martyr's deaths singing hymns of love and praise, the truth, as Catherine Nixey reveals, is very different. Far from being meek and mild, they were violent, ruthless and fundamentally intolerant. Unlike the polytheistic world, in which the addition of one new religion made no fundamental difference to the old ones, this new ideology stated not only that it was the way, the truth and the light but that, by extension, every single other way was wrong and had to be destroyed. From the 1st century to the 6th, those who didn't fall into step with its beliefs were pursued in every possible way: social, legal, financial and physical. Their altars were upturned and their temples demolished, their statues hacked to pieces and their priests killed. It was an annihilation.

Authoritative, vividly written and utterly compelling, this is a remarkable debut from a brilliant young historian.

Catherine Nixey studied Classics at Cambridge and subsequently worked as a Classics teacher for several years, before becoming a journalist on the arts desk at The Times, where she still works. She has also written for the FT, the Economist's Intelligent Life magazine, and all the broadsheets.

THE WOMEN WHO FLEW FOR HITLER

Clare Mulley

A riveting double biography of Nazi Germany's most highly decorated women test pilots - Hitler's personal Valkyries

Hanna Reitsch and Melitta von Stauffenberg were talented, courageous and strikingly attractive women who fought convention to make their names in the male-dominated field of flight in 1930s Germany. With the war, both became pioneering test pilots and both were awarded the Iron Cross for service to the Third Reich. But they could not have been more different and neither woman had a good word to say for the other.

Hanna was middle-class, vivacious and distinctly Aryan, while the darker, more self-effacing Melitta, came from an aristocratic Prussian family. Both were driven by deeply held convictions about honour and patriotism but ultimately while Hanna tried to save Hitler's life, begging him to let her fly him to safety in April 1945, Melitta covertly supported the most famous attempt to assassinate the Führer. Their interwoven lives provide a vivid insight into Nazi Germany and its attitudes to women, class and race.

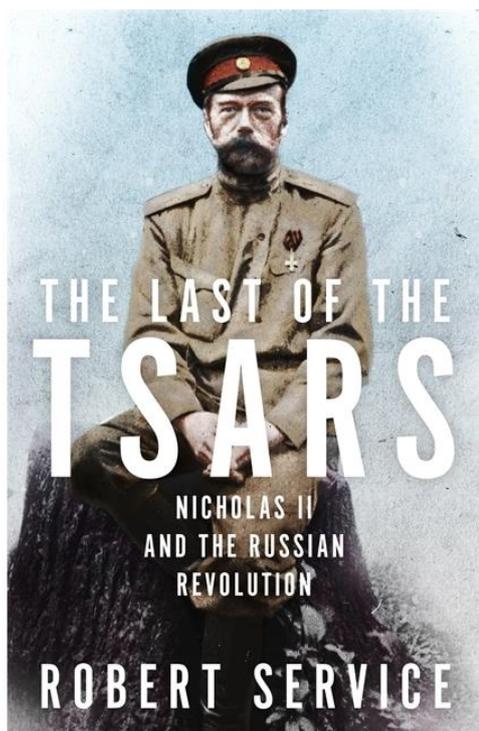

Told with brio and great narrative flair, The Women Who Flew for Hitler is an extraordinary true story, with all the excitement and colour of the best fiction.

Clare Mulley is the award-winning author of two books: The Spy Who Loved (Macmillan, 2012) and The Woman Who Saved the Children: A Biography of Eglantyne Jebb (Oneworld, 2009), which won the Daily Mail Biographers' Club Prize.

THE LAST OF THE TSARS

Nicholas II and the Russian Revolution

Robert Service

A riveting account of the last eighteen months of Tsar Nicholas II's life and reign from one of our finest historians of Russia

In February 1917, Nicholas II, the last Tsar of All the Russias, abdicated and the dynasty that had ruled an empire for three hundred years was forced from power by revolution. Now, on the hundredth anniversary of that revolution, the eminent historian of Russia, Robert Service examines Nicholas's reign in the year before his abdication and the months between that momentous date and his death, with his family, in Ekaterinburg in July 1918.

The story has been told many times, but Service's profound understanding of the period and his forensic examination of hitherto untapped sources, including the Tsar's diaries and recorded conversations, shed remarkable new light on his reign, also revealing the kind of ruler Nicholas believed himself to have been, contrary to the disastrous reality.

Last of the Tsars is a masterful study of a man who was almost entirely out of his depth, perhaps even wilfully so.

Robert Service is a Fellow of the British Academy and of St Antony's College, Oxford. He has written several books, including the highly acclaimed Lenin: A Biography, Russia: Experiment with a People, Stalin: A Biography and Comrades: A History of World Communism, as well as many other books on Russia's past and present.

Football is a team game. It's virtually unheard of to have the sort of focused, one on one rivalries that dominate individual sports. But for the best part of the last decade football has seen a personal rivalry unlike any seen before. Cristiano and Leo. This is their definitive story, from children kicking a ball halfway around the world from each other to their era-defining rivalry.

One the preening adonis, a precision physical machine who blows teams away with his pace and power. The other a shuffling genius, able to do things with a football that seem other-worldly. Their differences seem to tap into something fundamental about football.

Between them they have scored over a thousand goals, won the Ballon d'Or 9 times and redefined modern football. For the past eight seasons they have shared the accolade of best footballer in the world and arguments rage over which one deserves the title of greatest player of all time. This will be the essential book to understand the defining players of a generation.

Jimmy Burns is an award winning journalist and author. His previous books include The Land That Lost Its Heroes, Barca, When Beckham went to Spain, Beyond the Silver River, and the internationally acclaimed Hand Of God: The Life Of Diego Maradona. La Roja, a history of Spanish national football, was published in May 2012.

THE STRANGER ON THE BRIDGE

My Journey from Despair to Hope
Jonny Benjamin & Britt Pflüger

A journey from severe depression to recovery and looking forward from LGBT campaigner and vlogger Jonny Benjamin

At the age of 20 London-born Jonny was diagnosed with schizoaffective disorder, a combination of schizophrenia and bipolar. Ten years ago, his despair became too much for him and he stood on Waterloo Bridge with a plan to end his life. A kindly stranger stopped, listened, and saved him.

A few years after the incident, Jonny decided to try to find that stranger. The campaign went viral and they were reunited. This moving and riveting memoir, written with Britt Pflüger, tells the story of Jonny's life, from his early teenage diaries when his disorder first revealed itself to his current inspiring work raising awareness around mental health and working tirelessly in the field of suicide prevention

'In my world, the word inspirational gets bandied around a lot, but Jonny Benjamin is truly deserving of that adjective.'* - HRH Prince William

Jonny Benjamin is an ambassador for Heads Together, a partnership with The Duke and Duchess of Cambridge and Prince Harry, Mind and 12 other mental health charities to help to change the national conversation on mental health.

A sequel to the bestselling The Elephant Whisperer

A blonde, chic Parisienne, Francoise never expected to find herself living on a South African game reserve. But when she fell in love with renowned conservationist Lawrence Anthony her life took an unexpected turn. Lawrence died unexpectedly in 2012 and Francoise was left to face the tough reality of running Thula Thula without him, even though she knew very little about conservation. She was short on money, poachers were capitalizing on the chaos of Lawrence's death, and one of their elephants was charging Land Rovers on game drives and terrifying guests. There was no time to mourn when Thula Thula's human and animal family were depending on her.

How Francoise survived and Thula Thula thrived is beautifully described in this charming, funny and poignant book.

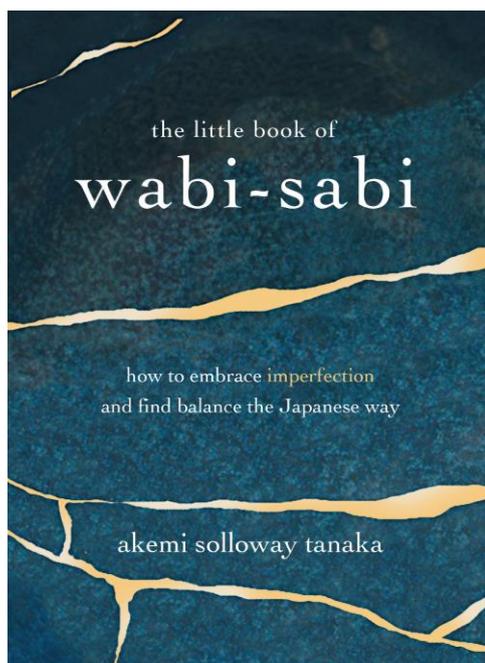

If you loved Lawrence's international bestseller The Elephant Whisperer, or just want to spend time with some remarkable animals, then you won't want to miss this sparkling book.

Praise for The Elephant Whisperer:

'In my thirty-five years of studying man/animal communication I have met only a few individuals who have the ability to enter into the metaphysical realm of the exotic animal. Lawrence Anthony has been there and back.' —Ralph Helfer, author of Modoc

THE LITTLE BOOK OF WABI-SABI

How to Embrace Imperfection and Find Balance The Japanese Way

Akemi Solloway Tanaka

An elegantly illustrated guide to wabi-sabi, the life-changing Japanese philosophy of appreciating imperfection and change

Wabi-sabi is the act of embracing imperfection and transience.

Wabi-sabi is an old earthenware pot rather than pristine china; peeling paint rather than sleek steel; a home-cooked meal rather than gourmet cuisine.

Everything is imperfect, everything is impermanent, everything is incomplete.

Ask a Japanese person to define wabi-sabi and they will probably tell you that it cannot be translated. If you are given an explanation, it's likely that it will contradict the next. Yet wabi-sabi has been significant part of Japanese history, aesthetics, spirituality and philosophy for hundreds, even thousands, of years and has been referred to by some as the heart of Japanese culture. Language is insufficient to describe wabi-sabi but its meaning is intuitive. A tangible definition might be elusive but once you see wabi-sabi, you will know it.

The Little Book of Wabi-Sabi will show you how you can apply the principles of wabi-sabi to your life and find balance, happiness and fulfillment.

Akemi Solloway Tanaka is the daughter of an old samurai family and grew up immersed in the traditional arts and culture of Japan. In addition to her university education, she attended the Tchiyoda Gakuin Finishing School, where she studied Occidental and Oriental etiquette. She is a lecturer and consultant of Japanese culture.

1. Believe you can change
2. Clarify your reasons for changing
3. Plan how you're going to do it
4. Prepare for what is likely to throw you off track

THE KINDNESS METHOD

Changing Habits for Good

Shahroo Izadi

A fresh and friendly approach to self-help and self-improvement using personalized mind maps

It's a reprise we're all familiar with, whether it's eating more healthily, quitting smoking or cutting down on drinking, it's easy to make extravagant plans to kick our bad habits (for good this time, I mean it), and then enthusiasm dwindles and in as little as a few short weeks we're back at square one.

In The Kindness Method Shahroo Izadi, a Behavioural Change Specialist, invites you first, to give yourself a break - life can be stressful - and then how to learn to strengthen your willpower like a muscle so you can sustain motivation for the long haul. By using the same techniques that she has used to help substance addicts recover from dependence, you can change your bad habits quickly and for good.

The Kindness Method is a totally non-judgmental and flexible process for mapping your habit and changing it using the compassion and understanding that we normally reserve for others. It works for everything from procrastination to alcohol consumption and weight loss because the plan is bespoke: mapped by you, for you and driven by self-motivation.

Start mapping your habits, setting your own goals with honesty and start treating yourself with the kindness you truly deserve!

THE ANXIETY JOURNAL

Corinne Sweet

A beautifully illustrated, practical journal to help combat anxiety wherever you are

Anxiety disorders are one of the most common mental health problems around the world. According to the World Health Organisation, more than one in ten people are likely to have a disabling anxiety disorder at some stage in their life and less severe forms are far more common. While some forms of anxiety are natural, and often even helpful, anxiety disorders can lead you into a spiral of stress and fear and interfere with your everyday life.

The Anxiety Journal will help to soothe stress and reduce worry, identify negative thought-cycles, and provide you with techniques to combat anxiety wherever you are.

Corinne Sweet is a psychologist, psychotherapist and author of non-fiction titles including Change Your Life with CBT and The Mindfulness Journal. A journalist and broadcaster, she is a well-respected figure in self-help, and specializes in CBT and mindfulness.

RITUALS

In order to slow down your day a little, build in space to ward off the possibility of getting stressed or sliding down into an anxiety spiral. To do this you will need to identify the times in your day when you feel particularly stressed so that you know when to expect your anxiety to arrive.

Are you most anxious:

- early morning, during the rush to work?
- when you're home by yourself, alone with your thoughts?
- when you are with a child all day trying to keep them happy?
- during lunchtime, when there is nowhere to eat but at your desk?
- commuting in the morning, or on the way back, when public transport or traffic jams seem worse than ever?
- during the transition time between work and coming home, when you need space, but are instantly drawn into domestic chores and family demands?
- in the evening, when you want to unwind but have to continue working?
- when you are with someone, and you don't feel you can connect?
- when you open your bank statements?
- at night, when you wake up, at 3 a.m., pulse racing?

FIVE MINUTE DE-STRESS EXERCISE

Set a timer for fifteen minutes.

Sit comfortably in a quiet place and notice your thoughts.

Close your eyes and visualise them as ping-pong or squash balls, ping-pong off the walls. See them bouncing around, buzzing away from one topic to another...

Focus on your breathing. Breathe in and out, and notice your thoughts, but don't follow them, let them go. Let them bounce out of view, out of the room, one by one.

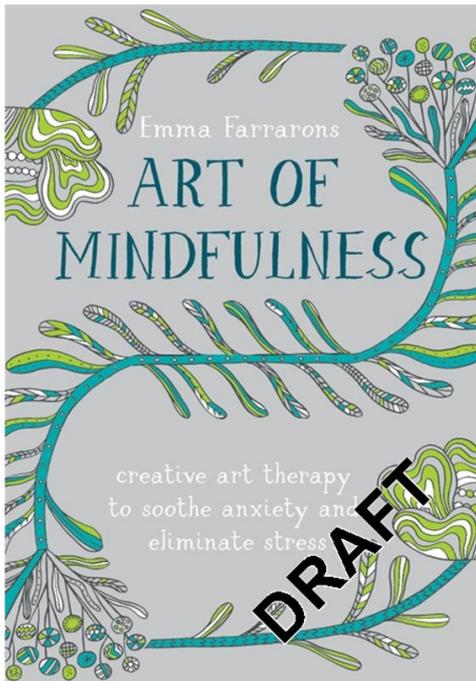

Keep breathing. Bring your attention back to just behind your forehead, in the middle, and let your thoughts calm, noticing them retreating, and don't pay them any attention.

Keep breathing and actively notice your chest and abdomen rising as you breathe in and falling as you breathe out.

Think 'rising' as you breathe in, 'falling' as you breathe out.

When the timer goes off, open your eyes slowly. Notice where you are.

Breathe and be aware that you feel less stressed now.

OYNB | ONE YEAR
NO BEER

THE 28 DAY ALCOHOL FREE CHALLENGE

Sleep Better, Lose Weight, Boost Energy, Beat Anxiety

Andy Ramage and Ruari Fairbairns

How to smash the challenge of quitting booze for a month and live a more productive, healthy and happy lifestyle - from the people behind ONE YEAR NO BEER

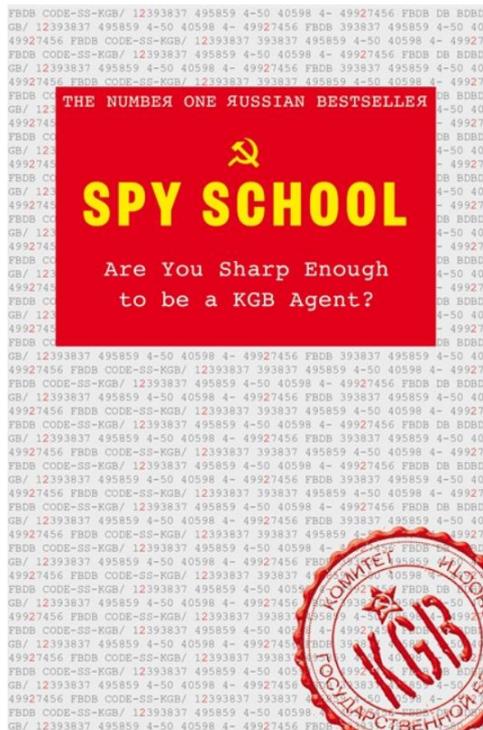

Take the 28 day challenge and discover a hangover-free world of quality time to achieve your goals. Even moderate drinking can make you tired, dull your senses and have a negative impact on your relationships. But the great news is that by taking a break from the booze you can reset your drinking habits and make sure you're in control.

The 28 Day Alcohol Free Challenge is designed to inspire you to look carefully at how you drink, why you drink, when and where, for a more productive, healthy and happier lifestyle.

Andy Ramage and Ruari Fairbairns started their website One Year No Beer to connect with a community of people that, for a variety of reasons, no longer wanted to deal with the adverse effects of drinking alcohol. In The 28 Day Alcohol Free Challenge Andy and Ruari share their extensive experience of going alcohol free, including getting through parties, events and gatherings, and most importantly embracing the health and social benefits of putting alcohol in its place.

Andy is a former professional athlete turned oil broker who currently runs a successful business.

Ruari grew up on the Isle of Mull in Scotland, where he setup his first business selling and servicing PCs on the Island at 16.

SPY SCHOOL

Are You Sharp Enough to be a KGB Agent?

Learn the secrets of a world-class memory as you test yourself against the KGB

The Number One Russian bestseller

When most people think of the word spy, they imagine gadgets – laser pens and exploding cigarette lighters – but the most important piece of equipment an agent has is their brain. Memory is vital to the work of an agent. The need for total secrecy often prevents them from recording anything, so operatives have to rely on their brains to retain and reproduce an incredible amount of information with absolute accuracy.

Inside this book we will teach you how to enhance your memory and sharpen your mind with a range of exercises developed over many years and used to train the most skillful spies the world has ever seen. You will develop skills tested in the most extreme of environments and unlock the full capability of your brain.

Full of puzzles, tests tricks and brain hacks, all interspersed with a cold war spy story, the Russian bestselling phenomenon Spy School is now translated into English for the first time.

Learn the secrets to a vastly improved memory and see if you have what it takes to be a Russian spy.

POP SCIENCE

Serious Answers to Questions Asked in Songs

James Ball

A book of hilarious and compelling answers to the most famous questions posed in pop songs, using data, facts and science.

What is Love? How Soon is Now? How long has this been going on? Is this the real life? Is there life on Mars? How do you solve a problem like a Maria?

They're some of the most famous questions ever asked. But do you know the answer to them? In Pop Science, James Ball gives the definitive and hilarious answers and in doing so uncovers what we have always know - pop songs are the key to life itself.

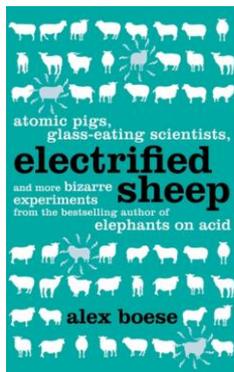

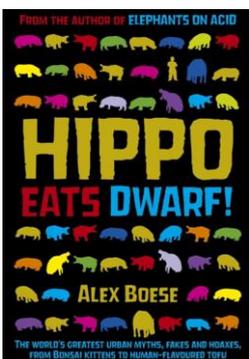

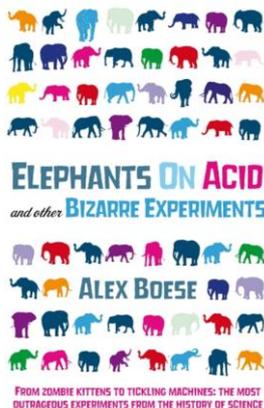

James Ball is a special correspondent at BuzzFeed UK. Previously special projects editor at The Guardian, James played a key role in the Pulitzer Prize-winning coverage of the NSA leaks by Edward Snowden, as well as the offshore leaks, HSBC Files, Reading the Riots and Keep it in the Ground projects.

At WikiLeaks he was closely involved in Cablegate – the publication of 250,000 classified US embassy cables in 2010 – as well as working on two documentaries based on the Iraq War Logs. He knows a lot about pop songs.

PSYCHEDELIC APES

Alex Boese

A collection of the weirdest and wackiest theories from history and science by bestselling author Alex Boese

What if we're living inside a black hole? What if we originated from viruses? What if the Tyrannosaurus Rex was a scavenger? What if Jesus Christ was actually Julius Caesar?

In Psychedelic Apes, bestselling author Alex Boese will delve into the curious scientific subculture of weird theories. Thoroughly bizarre and contrary to the established norm, these ideas were often vehemently rejected by the intellectual community.

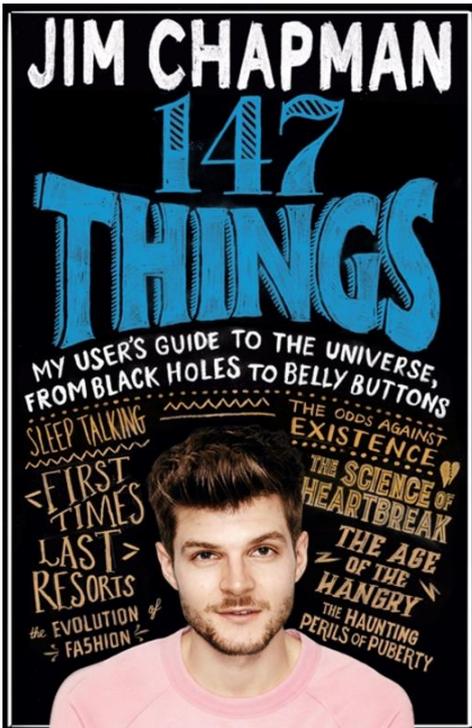

From the creation of the Universe to the evolution of humans, the birth of civilisation right through to speculation on how our solar system might end, Psychedelic Apes explores some of the craziest ideas from history and science and shows that, sometimes, even the weirdest theories may be proved true!

Alex Boese holds a master's degree in the history of science from the University of California, San Diego. He is the bestselling author of Elephants on Acid, Electrified Sheep and Hippo Eats Dwarf as well as being the creator and curator of www.museumofhoaxes.com. He lives near San Diego.

Jim Chapman

A hilariously brilliant and very personal guide to this thing we call life

From YouTube superstar, TV presenter, model and fact-obsessive over-sharer Jim Chapman comes a hilarious user's guide to the universe.

In 147 Things, Jim takes us on a whistle-stop tour of the best bits of everything, from the mind-blowing to the ridiculous. As with his videos, no subject is off-limits and he'll lift the lid on his life and his relationships, sharing embarrassing stories and things he's learnt along the way.

If you've ever felt weirded out by the fact we're seven billion (mostly) hairless apes spinning around a giant ball of flaming gas, or that we all begin as tiny humans INSIDE our mothers, or that many of us keep slightly-less-dangerous wolves in our homes, then you need this book in your life.

Jim wants to inspire you with the sheer unlikelihood of us all being here and equip you to feel just a little less overwhelmed by the small stuff.

The first in a breathtaking new series from #1 Sunday Times bestseller author Tom Marcus

Matt Logan is an MI5 operative for the British government, working undercover to track a pair of brothers known to him and his colleagues as Iron Sword and Stone Fist. They're both highly dangerous individuals who are suspected of plotting a major terrorist event – an attack that, if unleashed, will rock the country to its very core.

Frustrated by always needing to obey the rules, Logan yearns for a way to break through the bureaucracy that halts his progress. His wishes appear to come true when the Director General of MI5 calls him to a clandestine meeting and offers him the chance to head up a new, deniable operatives outfit known as The Executive. Knowing that taking on this new role will mean he sees less and less of his already distant family, Logan is torn between his professional and private lives.

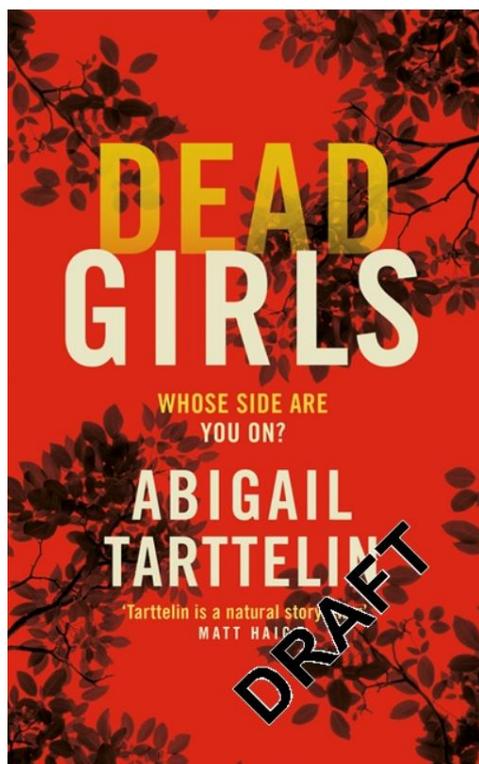

It's only when his wife Sarah and their only child Joseph are killed in a random attack on a day trip to the zoo that Logan's mind is made up for him. He will join The Executive and become their fiercest, most ruthless operative...

Tom Marcus former MI5, grew up on the streets in the North of England. He was hand picked from the Army into MI5 as a Surveillance Officer.

DEAD GIRLS

Abigail Tarttelin

“Abigail Tarttelin is a fearless writer”- Emily St. John Mandel

Do I know Billie Brooke? Do I know Billie? How am I supposed to answer that? Billie May Brooke and me have been best, true, forever friends since we were in the same antenatal class in our Mums’ tums when we were minus 6 months old.

Thera Emily Kathryn Wilde is 11 years, 3 months, 5 days, 17 hours, and 32 minutes old when she's asked by a police woman if she knows Billie Brooke. She's always had what might politely be called a mind of her own, and she's a firm believer in the adage that if you want something doing, then you should do it yourself. So, when it subsequently turns out that Billie has been murdered, it's no surprise that Thera decides it's her duty - as Billie's official best friend, and the last-person-but-one to see her alive - to find the killer and avenge her best friend's death.

Spurred on with her quest by Billie herself - and six other dead girls, all of whom appear regularly to Thera - Thera is determined. The trouble is that when Thera sets her mind to something, there's every chance she'll succeed. Even if she has no idea what she's getting into.

Abigail Tarttelin’s first novel Golden Boy received a 2014 Alex Award and has been translated into numerous languages.

I THOUGHT I KNEW YOU

Penny Hancock

Who do you know best? Your oldest friend? Your child? And who do you believe when one accuses the other of something terrible?

Jules and Holly have been best friends since university. They tell each other everything - trading revelations and confessions, and sharing both the big moments and the small details of their lives: Holly is the only person who knows about Jules' affair; Jules was there for Holly when her husband died. And their two children - just four years apart - have grown up together.

So when Jules' daughter Saffie accuses Holly's son of a terrible crime, neither woman can possibly be prepared for what this means - for their families or their friendship.

Especially as Holly refuses to believe her son is guilty.

For fans of He Said, She Said and Anatomy Of A Scandal, Penny Hancock's I Thought I Knew You is about secrets and lies - and whose side you take when it really matters.

Penny Hancock is the author of Tideline, a Richard & Judy bookclub pick, The Darkening Hour and A Trick of the Mind. She works as a Royal Literary Fellow at Anglia Ruskin University in Cambridge, supporting students with their writing. I Thought I Knew You is her fourth novel.

UNRAVEL

Trisha Sakhlecha

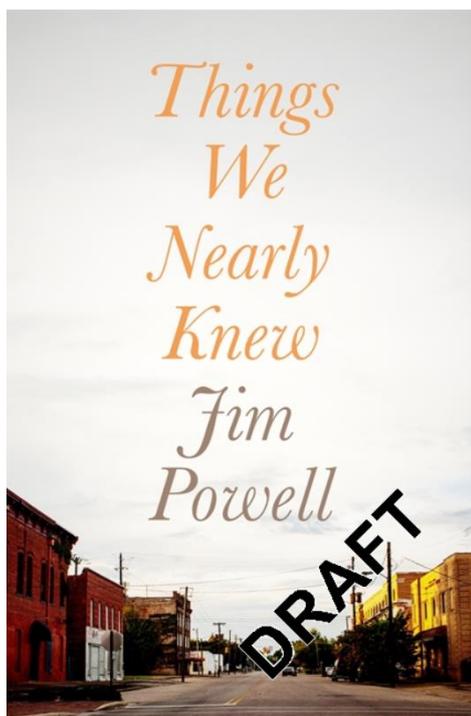

A debut psychological suspense novel set in India and London

Set in India and London, Unravel tells the story of British-Indian couple Roy and Mia, who seem to have it all, until a young woman goes missing, Roy's affair is revealed and, with each lie, their meticulously curated life begins to unravel.

Narrated in turn by Mia and Roy, their deeply dysfunctional marriage is slowly revealed. We follow their journey as each becomes drawn into a labyrinth of unfulfilled desires, childhood trauma which puts them both at risk. It has a pleasing, internal seductive logic and is taut page-turner.

Trisha Sakhlecha is a graduate of the Faber Writing Academy and works in high-end fashion industry.

THINGS WE NEARLY KNEW

Jim Powell

These people will tell you about themselves, over a drink, in a quiet corner. Some of it might even be true

There's a bar at the crossroads on the way out of town. Or the way in, depending on whether you're coming or going. Marcie and her husband have run it for years. After thirty years of marriage, there aren't many secrets left. Couples often tell themselves that, although it's not always true.

Arlene appeared in the bar one day not long before Frankie Albertino came back, thinking she'd find someone she'd once known, a man named Jack. Frankie was hoping that people might have forgotten the mess he left the first time around. Both of them were wrong. Women were always Frankie's problem. Women and money. Arlene's problem isn't clear to anyone. It's obvious she has a history, but then which of us doesn't?

As Arlene gets closer to finding Jack - her father? Her lover? - the bar becomes a scene of a great unravelling; secrets buried a lifetime ago are dragged into the light. Things We Nearly Knew invites us to consider how much we know about the ones we love and finally asks: would you want to know the truth?

Jim Powell is the author of Trading Futures and The Breaking of Eggs, and was named by BBC2's The Culture Show as one of the '12 Of The Best New Novelists' of 2011.

CONNECT

Julian Gough

A brilliantly and thrillingly smart novel of today and tomorrow, by one of the most genuinely original voices in Irish writing

Colt is a teenage boy, the only child of divorced parents, living in Nevada. For all his brilliance, he is impossible at school and is being home-schooled by his mother. Supposedly. His mother is a biologist, on the verge of a major breakthrough; his father works for a mysterious government agency that isn't supposed to exist.

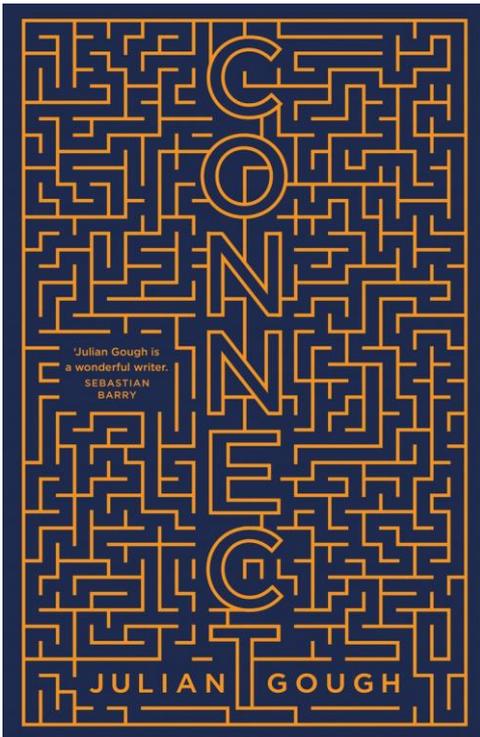

Socially awkward and benignly neglected by his parents, Colt spends most of his time living in a virtual reality gaming world.

Colt is on the spectrum, to say the least. Like most people who are borderline autistic, Colt tries to keep his life simple. But when Colt meets a girl online; when he submits his mother's breakthrough scientific paper to a conference and the paper comes to the attention of the organisation his father works for; when his father comes to see his own son and ex-wife as threats to national security, things start to become complicated. Very complicated indeed...

Julian Gough is author of three previous novels: Juno & Juliet; Jude in Ireland; and Jude in London. In 2007 he won the largest prize for a single short story and has twice been shortlisted for the Everyman Bollinger Wodehouse Prize.

MONKEY WILLIAMS/MURMUR

Richard House

Two new books from the Booker-nominated author of The Kills, both set in the world of the global protest movement over the last 30 years

Monkey Williams and Murmur are about how individuals coordinate to undermine the world's most powerful financial organization - and spark a new social and political movement in the process.

The first volume, Monkey Williams, follows a small group of friends and associates who first devise the ideas and approaches which become Monkey Williams. The second volume, Murmur, is about how the ideas first started by this group go viral to become a global movement.

This isn't a smooth journey. While a great deal of mischief is involved as they grow from scam to hoax to heist, Monkey Williams skirt under the law and evade capture and recognition. A complex, twisting narrative will introduce us into world of conspiracy, deceit, political corruption, scientific research and artistic interventions.

Richard House is an author, film maker, artist and university lecturer. His previous book The Kills was longlisted for the Man Booker prize and it was Book of the Year in the Guardian, Spectator, Daily Mail and Independent.

THE GLOVEMAKER

Ann Weisgarber

The third novel by the bestselling author of The Personal History of Rachel DuPree and The Promise

Praise for The Promise:

'Outstanding... The Promise by Ann Weisgarber is set in Texas in 1900 and follows the story of a young pianist who arrives from the sophisticated east coast to make a hasty marriage to a widower. The story of their tentative relationship in the oppressive Texan heat is engrossing, and the final pages are profoundly moving' - Kirsty Wark, Sunday Express

'A gripping, beautiful story of loyalties and hidden loves. Ann Weisgarber's pitch-perfect characters will break your heart and keep you guessing right to the very end.' - Carol Rifka Brunt, New York Times bestselling author of Tell The Wolves I'm Home

'Her characters will live in your imagination long after you've turned the last deeply moving page' - Ellen Feldman, author of Next to Love and Scottsboro

Ann Weisgarber was born and raised in Kettering, Ohio. She has lived in Boston, Massachusetts, and Des Moines, Iowa, but now splits her time between Sugar Land, Texas, and Galveston, Texas. Her first novel The Personal History of Rachel Dupree was longlisted for the Orange Prize and shortlisted for the Orange Prize for New Writers. The Promise was a finalist in the Western Writers of America Best Historical Fiction Awards.

THE RITUAL

Adam Nevill

Now a major film, starring Rafe Spall

From 'Britain's Stephen King' comes The Ritual, winner of the August Derleth Award

Four old university friends reunite for a hiking trip in the Scandinavian wilderness of the Arctic Circle. No longer young men, they have little left in common and tensions rise as they struggle to connect. Frustrated and tired they take a shortcut that turns their hike into a nightmare that could cost them their lives.

THE CHARMED LIFE OF ALEX MOORE

Molly Flatt

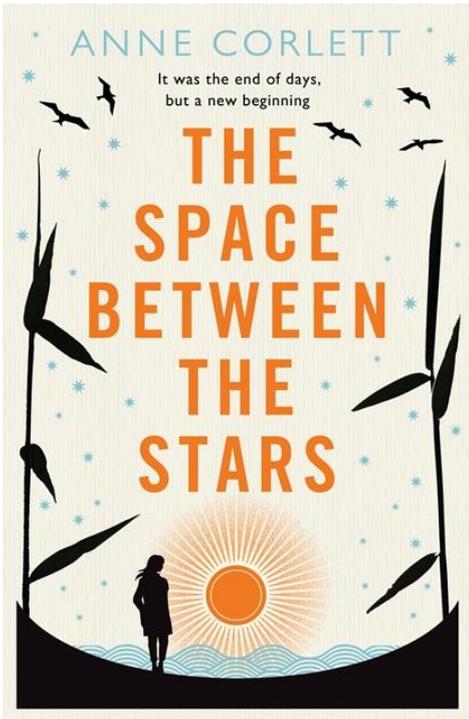

Bridget Jones meets The Matrix in a thrilling and original debut novel that will make you question what it means to be conscious, what it means to be you, and to what extent we're really in control of our lives.

How would you feel if everything in your life suddenly started to go... right? Weirdly, brilliantly right? Six months ago, Alex Moore was stuck in a dead-end job, with an average life, and an average looking future. Then, overnight, she launches her dream start-up to become one of London's fastest rising tech stars, and the toast of the town. At thirty, her life has just begun. But Alex's transformation isn't easy for those around her. Her friends are struggling to understand her sudden success, her parents are worried too, and her fiancé is feeling rather sidelined.

Then odd things start to happen. Muggings, stalkers and a frenzied stranger claiming she's a murderer. And when Alex visits the Orkney Islands to recharge, weird turns into WTF. Because there she discovers the world's oldest secret – and it's a secret that Alex's stratospheric rise has royally messed up.

THE SPACE BETWEEN THE STARS

Anne Corlett

A novel of love, loss and second chances, perfect for fans of Emily St John Mandel's Station Eleven

After a virus wipes out most of humanity, Jamie leaves her isolated posting on the planet Solitaire and heads for Earth. She must reach the Northumberland coast, to see if her ex-partner Daniel is still alive. Joining a band of misfits and fellow survivors, each with their own agenda, she struggles to survive while wrestling with loss and heartache in order to gain one last chance at happiness.

The Space Between the Stars is an enthralling novel of love, the choices we make, and what it means to be human. It's a dramatic road-trip across the stars, as a woman journeys across a plague-ravaged universe to the place she once called home, and the man she once loved.

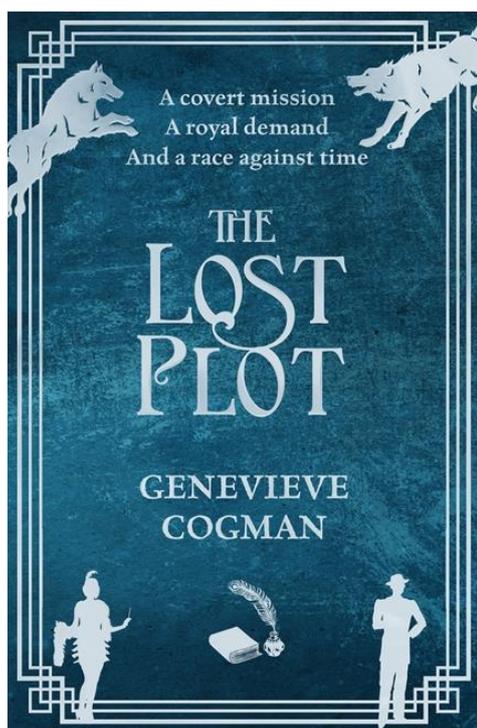

Anne Corlett completed her PhD in Creative Writing tutored by Fay Weldon and Maggie Gee. She has won a number of awards, including the H. E. Bates Award, and had several short stories published. This is her first novel.

'Anne Corlett is a writer with huge potential, and I'm looking forward to her future works' - Claire North, bestselling author of The First Fifteen Lives of Harry August

THE LOST PLOT

Genevieve Cogman

A sparkling novel featuring librarian spies, stolen books and top-secret missions to alternate realities...

A covert mission. A royal demand. And a race against time.

In a 1930s-esque Chicago, Prohibition is in force. Fedoras, flapper dresses and tommyguns are in fashion, and intrigue is afoot. Intrepid Librarians Irene and Kai find themselves in a race against time (and dragons) to procure a rare book whose discovery could have serious political repercussions for Kai's people - and whose loss could have dire consequences for Irene's job. And, incidentally, for her life...

Praise for The Burning Page:

Brilliant and so much fun. Skulduggery, Librarians, and Dragons - Cogman keeps upping the ante on this delightful series!' - Charles Stross'

'Cogman's writing is fresh, with a rich tonality ranging from the whimsical and witty to the suspenseful... the story is buoyed by the fast action scenes, and readers will be fascinated by the ever-growing complexities of Cogman's world' - Publishers Weekly

THE CURSED WIFE

Pamela Hartshorne

*She is living a lie.
Lies can be deadly.*

Mary is content with her life as wife to Gabriel Thorne, a wealthy merchant in Elizabethan London. She loves her husband and her family, is a kind mistress to the household and is well-respected in the neighbourhood. She does her best to forget that as a small girl she was cursed for causing the death of a vagrant child, a curse that predicts that she will hang. She tells herself that she is safe.

But Mary's whole life is based on a lie. She is not the woman her husband believes her to be, and when one rainy day she ventures to Cheapside, the past catches up with her and sets her on a path that leads her to the gibbet and the fulfilment of the curse.

The Cursed Wife is a page-turning, psychological thriller set in Elizabethan London.

Pamela Hartshorne has a Ph.D. in Medieval Studies from the University of York. She has won a number of prestigious awards, including a coveted RITA from the Romance Writers of America. She lives in York.

Praise for Pamela Hartshorne:

'Vertigo meets Rebecca in a twisty Tudor time slip. Addictive, atmospheric and completely enjoyable' - Julie Cohen

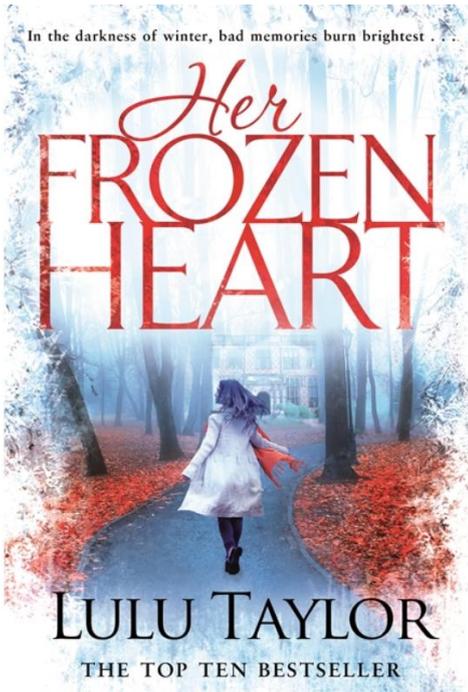

'Powerful and thrilling... You won't be able to rest until the end' - Sun

HER FROZEN HEART

Lulu Taylor

A thrilling mystery from the top ten bestselling author of The Winter Children and The Snow Rose

Caitlyn thinks her marriage to Patrick is a success. For one thing, he is one of the few people not to fall head over heels for her beautiful friend, Sara. Life is lived on his terms, but they are happy.

Aren't they?

When a devastating accident turns her existence upside down, Caitlyn is forced to reassess everything she thought about her marriage, what she truly knows about Patrick, and his real feelings for her best friend. In the refuge of an old manor house, she begins to discover the truth.

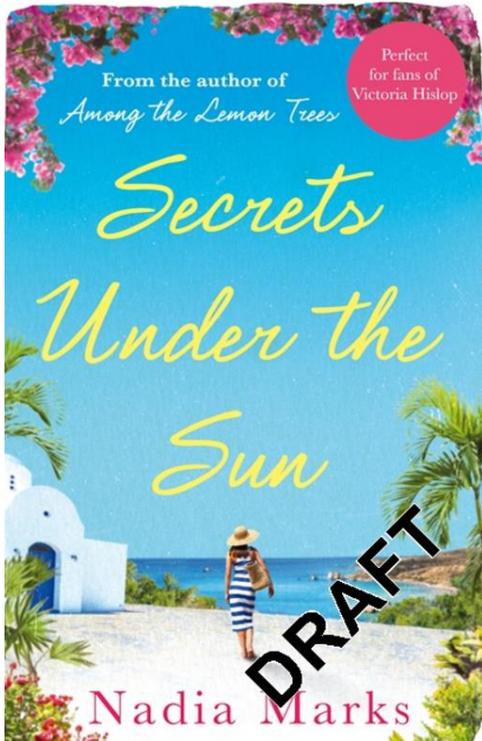

In 1947, the worst winter in decades hits England, cutting off entirely the inhabitants of Kings Harcourt Manor. For Tommy Carter, widowed at the start of war, it is particularly hard: the burden of the family falls on her. She has the solace of her children, and the interesting presence of her brother's friend, Fred. But there is also Barbara, a mysterious figure from her past who appears to want a piece of Tommy's future as well.

Lulu Taylor's first novel, Heiresses, was nominated for the RNA Readers' Choice award. She is also the author of The Snow Angel, The Winter Folly, The Winter Children and The Snow Rose – which was a UK Top Ten bestseller.

Praise for The Snow Rose:

'It's psychologically intense, brilliantly written and perfect escapism from January blues' - Daily Mail

'This is a fantastic, all-consuming read' - Heat

SECRETS UNDER THE SUN

Nadia Marks

A moving and transporting novel from the author of Among the Lemon Trees

The truth will surprise you...

On the day of Katerina's funeral in Larnaka, Cyprus, three childhood friends reunite for the first time in years to say farewell to the beloved old woman who profoundly influenced their lives. Eleni, Marianna and Orestis grew up together, as close as siblings, in their small, quaint seaside town. Originally hired as a household maid at just 13, Katerina became a pillar of their community, seeing the town change from a bustling, fashionable port to the quiet tourist destination it is today. The friends can hardly imagine a Larnaka without her.

But the funeral is not just a time to reminisce. Orestis's mother, Sonia, decides that with Katerina's death comes the time to unburden herself from all the family secrets. What she reveals will change everything, and how the three friends perceive their lives. A web of secrets, deception, forbidden love, and tenderness unravels before them.

Nadia Marks (née Kitromilides, which in Greek means 'bitter lemons') used to be Art Director for Company and She magazines, and is now a freelance journalist, who has been published in various national and international newspaper and magazines including The Guardian, Mail on Sunday, Daily Express, Independent, the Royal Photographic Society Journal, Psychologies and In Style magazine.

Praise for Among the Lemon Trees:

A TIME OF DREAD

Of Blood and Bone: Book 1

John Gwynne

John Gwynne's fantasy trilogy is a stirring epic where loyalty, truth and courage will be tested - and new heroes will be forged as a mighty conflict awaits. Perfect for fans of David Gemmell and Bernard Cornwell

Set in the same world as the Faithful and the Fallen quartet, A Time of Dread takes place one hundred years after the end of Wrath.

The Ben-Elim, a race of warrior angels, once vanquished a mighty demon horde. Now they rule the Banished lands. But their dominion is brutally enforced and their ancient enemy may not be as crushed as they thought.

In the snowbound north, Drem, a trapper, finds mutilated corpses in the forests - a sign of demonic black magic. In the south, Riv, a young, tempestuous soldier, discovers a deadly rift within the Ben-Elim themselves.

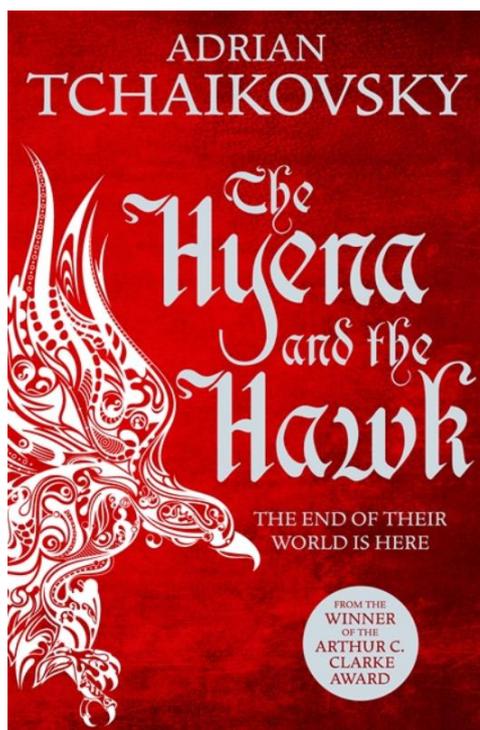

Two individuals with two world-changing secrets. But where will they lead? And what role will Drem and Riv play in the Banished Land's fate? Difficult choices need to be made. Because in the shadows, demons are gathering, waiting for their time to rise...

John Gwynne's Malice won the Gemmell Legend award for best debut novel.

Praise for The Faithful and the Fallen series:

'Hell of a debut: highly recommended' - Conn Iggulden

'Gwynne hits all the right spots... definitely one to watch' - SFX

THE HYENA AND THE HAWK

Echoes of the Fall: Book 3

Adrian Tchaikovsky

The third book in this epic fantasy trilogy by Adrian Tchaikovsky, Clarke-Award-winning author of Children of Time and the Shadows of the Apt series

From the depths of the darkest myths, the soulless Plague People have returned. Their pale-walled camps obliterate villages, just as the terror they bring with them destroys minds. In their wake, nothing is left of the true people: not their places, not their ways. The Plague People will remake the world as though they had never been.

The heroes and leaders of the true people - Maniye, Loud Thunder, Hesprec and Asman - will each fight the Plague People in their own ways. They will seek allies, gather armies and lead the charge. But a thousand swords or ten thousand spears will not suffice to turn back this enemy. The end is at hand for everything the true people know.

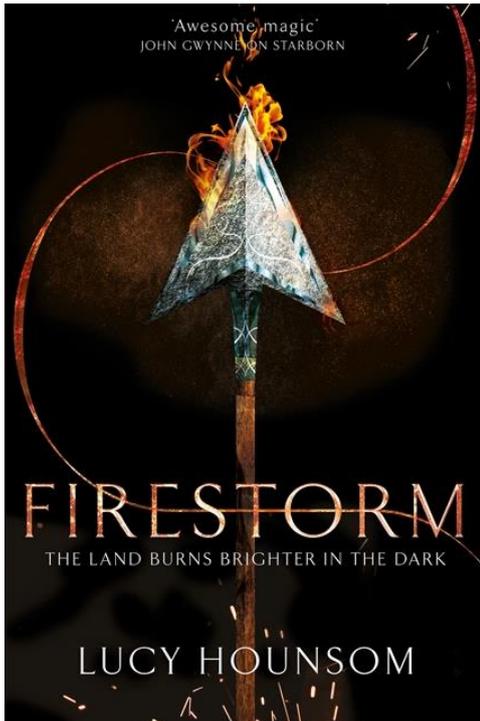

Adrian Tchaikovsky is the author of the critically acclaimed Shadows of the Apt series and several stand-alones, including his novel Children of Time, the winner of the 30th Anniversary Arthur C. Clarke Award for Best Science Fiction Novel.

Praise for The Tiger and the Wolf:

'It's addictively brilliant! The protagonist is vivid and sympathetic - and I love both the story and the world Adrian has created. It's meticulously thought out and utterly believable' - John Gwynne

'A classically brilliant fantasy writer, a pusher of boundaries, a great storyteller' - Paul Cornell

FIRESTORM

Worldmaker Trilogy: Book 3

Lucy Hounsom

Following Starborn and Heartland, the epic conclusion to the trilogy

Kyndra has finally mastered her cold Starborn powers, but at what cost? She's drifting from those dearest to her - though they can only reunite Acre together. And assassins who dance through time pose an extraordinary new threat. They seek to change the past - to unmake the Sartyan Empire and rewrite the whole history of Acre. And in the Khronostians' new narrative, Kyndra is never even born.

Ex-slaver Char is determined to enlist the help of dragons for the fight to come. They were banished from the world by Khronostians. But, with the rogue Khronostian Ma's skills, he and Kyndra aim to reach the dragons' mountainous city. And perhaps here, they can gather enough power to send Kyndra far back in time - to prevent the death of an era. Yet despite her best efforts, events propel Kyndra towards a confrontation that has shaped and will shape the future of the world.

Lucy Hounsom works for Waterstones and has a BA in English & Creative Writing from Royal Holloway. She went on to complete an MA in Creative Writing under Andrew Motion in 2010.

Praise for the Worldmaker Trilogy:

'Evocative, original worldbuilding and a wonderfully feisty heroine: top marks to Lucy Hounsom' - Karen Miller

'A brave heroine, a perilous destiny, and an intriguing world full of myth and mystery make for an enthralling read' - Gail Z. Martin

THE SOLDIER

Rise of the Jain Trilogy: Book 1

Neal Asher

A gripping space opera, from the bestselling author of the Agent Cormac series

A hidden corner of space is swarming with lethal alien technology, a danger to all sentient life. It's guarded by Orlandine, whose mission is to ensure it stays contained – at all costs. Living aboard a state-of-the-art weapons station, she watches over technology designed to destroy entire civilizations. However, she's hatching a plan to obliterate it, removing the threat forever. It was created by the Jain, a long-dead race, and forces are on the move who'll do anything to unleash their last secrets.

Meanwhile, humanity's galactic territories and the alien Prador Empire watch this sector of space with interest, as neither can allow the other to claim its power. However, things are about to change, the Jain might not be as dead as they seem and interstellar war is never far away.

Neal Asher is author of over sixteen highly-acclaimed SF novels and short stories, including Gridlinked, The Line of Polity, The Departure, Zero Point and Jupiter War.

Praise for War Factory:

'Asher ventures into some terrifying minds and incredible space battles in this tangled but heart-pounding sequel, which achieves a rare success in depicting truly non-human forms of intelligence' - Publishers Weekly
