Hogarth

Drawing its inspiration from Virginia and Leonard Woolf's original Hogarth Press founded in 1917, Hogarth relaunched in 2012 as a partnership between Chatto & Windus in the UK and Crown in the US. It is a home for a new generation of literary talent, an adventurous fiction imprint with an accent on the pleasures of storytelling and a broad awareness of the world.

In October 2015, Hogarth launched the Hogarth Shakespeare program, to coincide with the 400th anniversary of Shakespeare's death. The project sees the Bard's plays retold by acclaimed, bestselling novelists and brought to life for a contemporary readership.

THE OLD DRIFT

A Novel

Namwali Serpell

March 2019

Rights: World

Namwali Serpell's electrifying debut, THE OLD DRIFT is the first novel ever to tell the story of Zambia from its very beginnings to the present day—and beyond.

It starts at the majestic Victoria Falls, where there was once a colonial settlement called the Old Drift. In 1904, in the smoky dining room of the Victoria Falls Hotel, a fever-addled British settler makes a mistake that entangles his family's fate with those of an Italian hotelier and an African busboy. As this error ripples over the centuries, the lives of these families keep converging. We meet characters like a girl covered from head to toe in hair, a blind tennis player with eye-riddled skin, a woman whose tears seem endless, and a group of Afronauts who try to join the Space Race. The novel crescendos with a love story and a political protest in a brilliantly imagined Africa of the near future, filled with homegrown technological marvels from microdrones to viral vaccines.

Crossing centuries, borders, and genres, THE OLD DRIFT tells a sweeping tale of a small African country as it comes into being, and the trials and tribulations of its people. Their stories, told by a mysterious swarm-like chorus that calls itself man's greatest nemesis, form an epic meditation on what it means to be human.

With playful language, Serpell masterfully blends historical fiction, fairy-tale fables, romance, and science fiction. On each page, she turns stereotypes and tropes on their heads, unsettling the stories we think we know about Africa, from colonialism to migration, gender to race, poverty to politics, and nationhood to technology. Through THE OLD DRIFT's cast of vivid characters—including Zambia, which proves to be a character itself—Serpell shows that, if to err is human, then even the slightest error can still be a powerful force for transformation. Incisive, expansive, and subversive, THE OLD DRIFT announces Namwali Serpell as a major new literary talent.

Namwali Serpell is a Zambian writer who teaches at the University of California, Berkeley. She won the 2015 Caine Prize for African Writing for her story "The Sack." She received a Rona Jaffe Foundation Writers' Award for women writers in 2011 and was selected for the Africa39, a 2014 Hay Festival project to identify the best African writers under forty. Her first published story, "Muzungu," was selected for The Best American Short Stories 2009 and shortlisted for the 2010 Caine Prize. Her fiction and nonfiction have appeared in the New Yorker, McSweeney's, The Believer, Tin House, Triple Canopy, Callaloo, n+1, Cabinet, the San Francisco Chronicle, The Guardian, and the New York Review of Books

A major literary event of 2019, Namwali Serpell's THE OLD DRIFT unfolds over generations as it weaves together the stories of three Zambian families, their triumphs, and their follies in a sweeping, genre-defying exploration of what it means to be human.

Advance Praise for The Old Drift

"In turns charming, heartbreaking, and breathtaking, The Old Drift is a staggeringly ambitious, genre-busting multigenerational saga with moxie for days. . . . I wanted it to go on forever. A worthy heir to Gabriel García Márquez's One Hundred Years of Solitude."

—CARMEN MARIA MACHADO, author of Her Body and Other Parties

"From the poetry and subtle humor constantly alive in its language, to the cast of fulsome characters that defy simple categorization, The Old Drift is a novel that satisfies on all levels. Namwali Serpell excels in creating portraits of resilience—each unique and often heartbreaking. In The Old Drift the individual struggle is cast against a world of shifting principles and politics, and Serpell captures the quicksand nature of a nation's roiling change with exacting precision. My only regret is that once begun, I reached the end all too soon."

—ALICE SEBOLD, author of The Lovely Bones

"An astonishing novel, a riot for the senses, filled with the music and scents and sensations of Zambia. Namwali Serpell writes about people, land, and longing with such compassionate humor and precision. There's an old wisdom in these pages. In short, make room on your shelf next to a few of your other favorites: Chimamanda Ngozi Adichie, Tsitsi Dangarembga, and Edwidge Danticat jump to mind. It's brilliant. This woman was born to write!"

—ALEXANDRA FULLER, author of Don't Let's Go to the Dogs Tonight

"It's difficult to think of another novel that is at once so sweepingly ambitious and so intricately patterned, delivering the pleasures of saga and poetry in equal measure. The Old Drift is an endlessly innovative, voraciously brilliant book, and Namwali Serpell is among the most distinctive and exciting writers to emerge in years."

—GARTH GREENWELL, author of What Belongs to You

"If, as she writes, 'history is the annals of the bully on the playground,' then in The Old Drift, Namwali Serpell wreaks havoc on the Zambian annals by rewriting the past, creating a new present, and conjuring an alternative future. In refusing to be bound by genre, Serpell is audacious and shrewd. This is a Zambian history of pain and exploitation, trial and error, and hope and triumph."

—JENNIFER MAKUMBI, author of Kintu

"The Old Drift is an extraordinary meditation on identity, the history of a nation, love, politics, family, friendship, and life. Serpell's prose is dazzling. Darting back and forth through the decades and mixing different genres, Serpell has delivered an original, remarkable, magical work that both delights and challenges."

—CHIKA UNIGWE, author of On Black Sisters Street and Night Dancer

KING OF THE MISSISSIPPI

Mike Freedman

July 2019

Rights: World English (Translation rights with The Stuart Agency)

A biting, hilarious literary satire of war, business, and contemporary masculinity, set in the cutthroat-but-ridiculous world of management consulting.

King of the Mississippi is an incisive, uproarious dissection of contemporary male vanity and delusion, centered around a "war" for dominance of a prestigious Houston consulting firm. On one side of the conflict is Brock Wharton, an old money ex-jock whose delight in telling clients to downsize is matched only by his firm conviction that people like himself deserve to run the world. On the other is Mike Fink, a newly-hired wily former soldier trying to ride his veteran status to the top of a corporate world that lionizes "the troops" without truly understanding them. Brock and Mike are mortal enemies on sight, bitterly divided not only by background and class but by diametrically opposed (yet equally delusional) visions of what it means to "be a man". And as their escalating conflict spirals out of control, it will take them all the way from the hidebound board rooms and gladiatorial football fields of Texas, to the vapid and self-serving upper echelon of Silicon Valley, to the corporatized battlefield of Iraq, all the while serving as a ruthlessly funny takedown of the vacuity and empty machismo of corporate life and alpha male culture in modern America.

Devastatingly witty, unapologetically scathing, and ultimately surprisingly moving, King of the Mississippi marks the arrival of a unique and scintillating new voice in American fiction, one that boldly punctures the myths of American manhood like no one has since the heyday of Chris Buckley and Bret Easton Ellis.

Mike Freedman was born and raised in Houston. He volunteered for the infantry after 9/11, later serving three tours in Iraq and Afghanistan in the U.S. Army Special Forces. He received his M.B.A. from Rice University. He is the author of School Board.

THE LOST NIGHT

Andrea Bartz

February 2019

Rights: World

"Andrea Bartz casts a nostalgic, misty haze over this story about a meticulous-minded woman playing detective with her own life. If you've ever woken up unsure of what happened the night before and then proceeded to do it again...oh my, this is your book."—Caroline Kepnes, author of *You and Providence

"A compulsively readable journey into the dark corners of memory. Bartz has crafted a terrifying and delicious narrative in the vein of Gillian Flynn and Paula Hawkins."—Jo Piazza, bestselling coauthor of *The Knockoff

"Exciting, gripping, disquieting—The Lost Night is more than a thriller. It's a magnificent examination of the dark corners of our souls. Andrea Bartz has written this season's must-read novel."—Rene Denfeld, bestselling author of *The Child Finder

"This suspenseful, twisty thriller is the perfect book if you're in the midst of your invincible twenties, or if you've ever looked back on that ephemeral time in your life and thought, how in the world did I live to tell the tale?"—Camille Perri, author of The Assistants and *When Katie Met Cassidy

WUNDERLAND

Jennifer Cody Epstein

April 2019

Rights: World English (Translation rights with ICM)

“Not only an original and searing investigation into the seductive and terrifying world of Hitler’s National Socialist movement and its aftermath, but also a suspenseful and profoundly moving story of love, hate, passion and devotion.”—Joanna Hershon, author of *The German Bride

It's 1989 in New York City, and Ava Fischer is a mess: she's broke, her teenage daughter is barely speaking to her, and her estranged mother Ilse's ashes have just arrived from Germany by mail. Throughout Ava's childhood in Germany, too many unspoken secrets hovered between them: Who was Ava's father? Why won't her mother tell her anything about him? And what exactly was Ilse doing during the war? In a trove of unsent letters that arrive with Ilse's ashes, written to her childhood best friend, Renate, Ava begins to find her answers, sending her spiraling deep into the past of the mother she never truly knew.

It's 1933 in Berlin. Two young girls, Renate and Ilse, become inseparable friends. But as the Nazi party tightens its grip on the city, the girls find their friendship torn apart by the Nuremberg Laws. And as Ilse is increasingly drawn in by the Hitler Youth movement and its promise of a Germany restored to greatness, Renate is forced to confront a family secret.

Jennifer Cody Epstein is the author of the international bestseller The Painter from Shanghai and The Gods of Heavenly Punishment, winner of the 2014 Asian Pacific Association of Librarians Honor award for outstanding fiction.

PRESIDENTS OF WAR

The Epic Story, from 1807 to Modern Times

Michael Beschloss

October 2018

Rights: World

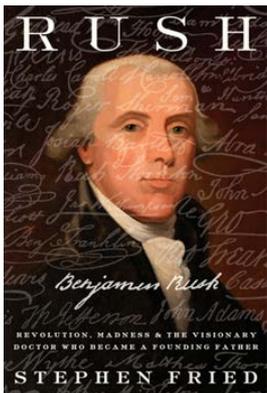

"The renowned historian explores America's wars through its presidents. In another masterful work of research, Beschloss demonstrates his erudite grasp of the history of the executive branch. The Founders gave Congress the power to "declare" (not make) war; the executive has power only to repel attacks....As he clearly shows throughout this illuminating narrative, during every war, the president has received extraordinary powers; some used it well, while others abused it. The author's highly readable style and ability to pinpoint the most relevant facts make this a perfect book for any student of American history and its presidents." —Kirkus (starred review)

Provocative and illuminating, Presidents of War is a definitive work of presidential history and an invaluable guide to leadership and decision-making in times of crisis.

Michael Beschloss is a lauded historian and one of the keenest observers of the White House. In Presidents of War, he offers an authoritative portrait of major wartime presidents in action, from the War of 1812 to the Vietnam War. Whether examining Lincoln's controversial military leadership, Wilson's idealistic and authoritarian approach to World War I, or LBJ sinking into the quagmire of Vietnam, Beschloss employs deep research and unsurpassed storytelling to bring these presidents to life in moments of public oratory and private doubt. He also charts their relationships with the public, which has consigned them to fame or infamy, and with Congress, which has continually struggled to define and redefine the president's wartime powers.

Michael Beschloss is the author of many bestselling books, most recently Jacqueline Kennedy, The Conquerors, and Presidential Courage. He is the NBC News Presidential Historian and a board member of the Smithsonian's National Museum of American History.

"Fried makes the case, in this comprehensive and fascinating biography, that renaissance man Benjamin Rush merits more attention....Fried portrays Rush as a complex, flawed person and not just a list of accomplishments;...a testament to the authorial thoroughness and insight that will keep readers engaged until the last page." —Publishers Weekly, starred review

FOUNDING MARTYR

The Life and Death of Dr. Joseph Warren,
the American Revolution's Lost Hero

Christian Di Spigna

August 2018

Rights: World

"Di Spigna argues that, although Joseph Warren (1741-1775) remains largely unknown, he was 'one of the most important figures in the movement for independence,' a characterization amply supported by the evidence presented in this revealing and insightful biography... Di Spigna incorporates diligent research, enhanced by analysis of primary sources only he has tracked down (such as medical records Warren maintained for his practice), into a gripping narrative that doesn't shy away from the darkness in his subject, including Warren's family's ownership of slaves. This book will give readers a fuller picture of American leadership before the active engagement of those now called the founding fathers."

SCARS OF INDEPENDENCE

America's Violent Birth

Holger Hoock

May 2017

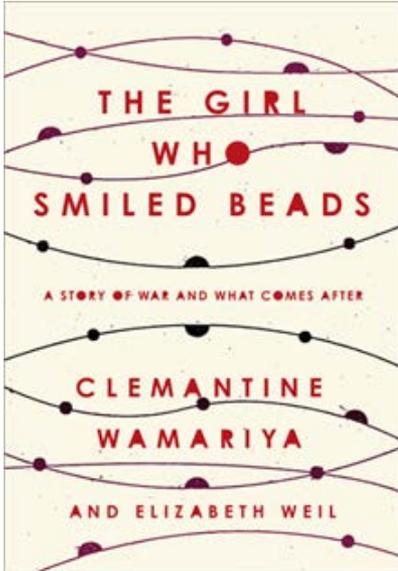

Rights: World

"A fresh approach to a well-trod subject... Deeply researched and buttressed by extensive useful endnotes, this is history that will appeal to both scholars and general readers. The author presents his grim narrative in language that is vivid without becoming lurid... An accomplished, powerful presentation of the American Revolution as it was, rather than as we might wish to remember it."

THE GIRL WHO SMILED BEADS

A Story of War and What Comes After Clemantine Wamariya and Elizabeth Weil
April 2018
Rights: World

“This book is not a conventional story about war and its aftermath; it’s a powerful coming-of-age story in which a girl explores her identity in the wake of a brutal war that destroyed her family and home. Wamariya is an exceptional narrator and her story is unforgettable.” —Publishers Weekly (starred review)

“At once heart-breaking and hopeful, [Wamariya’s] story is about power and helplessness, loneliness and identity, and the strange juxtaposition of poverty and privilege.... This beautifully written and touching account goes beyond the horror of war to recall the lived experience of a child trying to make sense of violence and strife. Intimate and lyrical, the narrative flows from Wamariya’s early experience to her life in the United States with equal grace. A must-read.” —Library Journal (starred review)

“A powerful record of the refugee experience... [with] moments of potent self-reckoning.” —Kirkus Reviews

“Sharp, moving... Wamariya and her co-author, Elizabeth Weil... describe Wamariya’s idyllic early childhood in the Rwandan capital, Kigali, and the madness that followed with an analytic eye and, at times, a lyrical honesty.... Wamariya is piercing about her alienation in America and her effort to combat the perception that she is an exotic figure, to be pitied or dismissed.... Wamariya tells her own story with feeling, in vivid prose. She has remade herself, as she explains was necessary to do, on her own terms.” —Alexis Okeowo, New York Times Book Review

AND THEN THEY STOPPED TALKING TO ME

Making Sense of Middle School

Judith Warner

July 2020

Rights: World

The bestselling author of Perfect Madness trains her eye on the middle school years: why they're so painful, how parents unwittingly make them worse, and what we can do about it.

The French have a name for the uniquely hellish years between elementary school and high school: "Le Sale Age," or the "Rotten Age." Characterized by a perfect storm of developmental changes--physical, psychological, and social. Some of this is inevitable; there are intrinsic challenges to growing up. But these years are harder than they need to be, and Judith Warner believes that adults are complicit.

With piercing insight, compassion, and humor, Warner walks us through a new understanding of the role that middle school plays in all our lives. She argues that today's helicopter parents are overly concerned with status, achievement, and sorting--in some ways a residual effect of their own middle school experiences--and that this is worsening the self-consciousness and self-absorption so typical of early adolescence. Drawing on new insights from neuroscience and psychology, and bringing together the voices of social scientists, child development experts, educators, and parents, Warner shows how adults can be moral role models for children, making them more empathetic, caring, and resilient.

Judith Warner is the author of the New York Times bestselling Perfect Madness: Motherhood in the Age of Anxiety and Hillary Clinton: The Inside Story, as well as several other books. She writes the Domestic Disturbances column for the New York Times website and is a former special correspondent for Newsweek in Paris. She lives in Washington, D.C., with her husband and their children.

LA PASSIONE

How Italy Seduced the World

Dianne Hales

April 2019

Rights: World English (Translation rights with The Joy Harris Literary Agency)

A charming narrative and "pop historical" look into how Italy has shaped the Western world's most vibrant passions, from literature to love, music to art, food to wine.

What makes Italian passion so undeniably unique? Dianne Hales unspools the answer to this question with gusto in La Passione: How Italy Seduced the World, her ambitious follow-up to La Bella Lingua: My Love Affair with Italian, the World's Most Enchanting Language. Streams of Italian passion have irrigated every field of endeavor. Whether they built aqueducts, chiseled arches, conducted choirs, directed movies, raced cars, or designed fashion and furniture, Italians have done so with a full-hearted zest that transforms everything they touched. What didn't exist, they invented: the first universities, public libraries, and law and medical schools; the first modern histories, satires, and sonnets; the battery, barometer, radio, and thermometer--even the gift of music.

In every creative field, Italian passion inspired masterpieces of unparalleled genius. Dante and Petrarch, titans of the Italian language, translated their fervid love for idealized muses into literary landmarks. Michelangelo carved a Bacchus so sinuously delectable that a Florentine sniped, "Buonarrotti could not have sinned more with a chisel." Puccini swept listeners, in a biographer's words, "into that place where erotic passion, sensuality, tenderness, pathos, and despair meet and fuse." Passion has penetrated Italian everyday life so profoundly that even everyday foods sizzle with erotic electricity. La Passione traces this earthly, earthy drive back to its roots, follows its course through the centuries, and chronicles its impact on the realms of literature, art, music, cuisine, and style, as its people came to embrace, fully and deeply, a passion for life itself.

Combining her adroit journalist's eye with extensive research, Hales delves into passions of the heart, senses, and soul across the ages in this perfect read for the casual Italophile, inquisitive tourist, or history buff in your life.

Dianne Hales is a journalist and author of books on Italian culture, most recently 2014's Mona Lisa: A Life Discovered and Crown's La Bella Lingua: My Love Affair with Italian, the World's Most Enchanting Language. Her website and blog, "Becoming Italian Word by Word," has been honored as the best blog on Italian culture in an international survey, and has more than 1.3 million visitors.

LEADING WITHOUT AUTHORITY

Keith Ferrazzi

November 2019

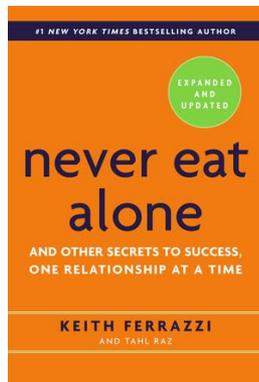

Rights: World

The bestselling author of Never Eat Alone unveils a new way to collaborate in a business world that is radically interdependent, where reporting lines are blurred and individuals inside and outside the organization all make up part of your team -- the process Keith Ferrazzi calls co-elevation.

Our teams are no longer limited to the people who formally report to us, or even to those in the same group or division. Today, the people on our teams can include employees in other countries, clients, even constituents in other industries. And they can shift at a moment's notice. The old reporting structures and ways of managing peers no longer applies. The answer, acclaimed management expert Keith Ferrazzi says, involves a shift in mindset that Ferrazzi calls coelevation -- working together to elevate those around us. And the cool thing about it is that you don't have to have a title, or have direct reports, to utilize the co-elevation process. In fact, you can take initial steps forward without the other person even being aware of your efforts. In essence, you become a leader within your group or organization even without formal authority.

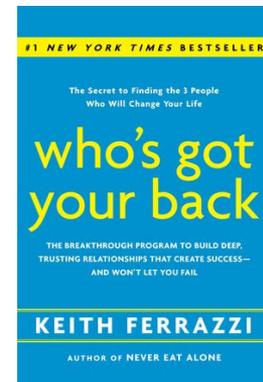

Based on a decade of working with CEOs, senior leadership, and emerging findings from the field of psychology, Ferrazzi reveals, through countless stories and examples, how co-elevation, and leading even without a formal title, works to increase collaboration, build trust, create candor and drive transparency and purpose. By helping others to be better at what they do, we help ourselves, and improve our teams and workplaces. Like Never Eat Alone, LEADING WITHOUT AUTHORITY promises to be the book on strengthening relationships and strengthening cooperation in our companies -- and in our lives.

THE SOULFUL ART OF PERSUASION

Jason Harris

September 2019

Rights: World

"I've known Jason for years, seen the magic first-hand, and called him for advice. If you've ever wondered where world-changing, culture-shaping campaigns come from, he is one of the wizards behind the curtain. Pay attention." --bestselling author Tim Ferriss

Genuine persuasion in today's world, says Mekanism founder Jason Harris, doesn't come about as a result of manipulation, pressure tactics or trickery -- it is about fostering the habits and traits that one needs to develop in order to be persuasive in any situation. It is about character and core values, rather than salesmanship.

In an age of unparalleled transparency and pervasive social media, where our actions and motivations are clear to everyone, being a persuasive person, whether in our work lives or in our personal lives, is not about persuading others to do something they don't really want to do. Genuine persuasion today is about developing the habits that will allow you to listen to others, communicate your goals, values and reason honestly, and win them over to your point of view because it is good for them. To be persuasive today, Jason Harris says, you need to put your true self forward, and stay true to your values. It is not about going for the quick sell, or closing, or trying to sell something you wouldn't buy for yourself.

Among the eleven habits of a truly persuasive character, Harris says, are the importance of listening fully; developing a natural curiosity about other people; being reliable and keeping promises; practicing positivity -- being the kind of person that others always want around. It is about being generous, and trying to give people something in every interaction, from a complement to a recommendation, from a piece of advice to an actual gift. It is about respecting other people's values and motivations, and sharing the stage. It is about collaboration, not winning. About personal excellence, and doing some good in the world.

Jason Harris is the president and CEO of the award-winning creative agency Mekanism, with offices in New York, San Francisco, Chicago and Seattle, creating provocative campaigns for such iconic brands as Adidas, HBO, Nasdaq, Amazon, The North Face and The United Nations. In 2015, Harris was named #5 on the list of the top 10 most influential social impact leaders.

MAKE NO SMALL PLANS

Elliott Bisnow, Brett Leve, Jeff Rosenthal and Jeremy Schwartz

September 2019

Rights: World

A personal development and motivational guide by the four founders of the Summit leadership series, whose unofficial motto is "Make no small plans."

In 2009, Elliott Bisnow, Brett Leve, Jeff Rosenthal and Jeremy Schwarz were four guys fitfully trying to make the hard transition from their first, free, leadership event, to a ticketed event in Aspen, a month and a half a way. They had moved maybe 20 tickets, and that was probably generous. Suddenly they got a call from Yosi Sergeant at the White House, who had promised to host the first business event for the Obama Administration. He had no budget, no commitments, and the event was due to take place in a week. Could Summit take the whole thing off his hands? Elliott and company said yes. Of course. Consider it done. And then they got to work. They invited -- begged, pleaded, hustled and leaned on 36 different entrepreneurs--people with a combined net worth approaching 10 billion dollars -- through cold call after call, invoking the President's name. Of those 36 invitations, they got 35 yeses. They were selling the dream.

Today, Summit has 500 employees, has hosted 13 elite Flagship events featuring CEOs and former Presidents and sitting senators. They own the largest ski resort in America, where they have hosted over 150 Mountain Salon events, inviting movers and shakers to change the world. They have a venture fund, and a real estate development company. At their most recent event, Summit LA17, they had 3700 attendees -- by invitation only -- from 52 countries, including Bill Clinton, Jeff Bezos, Andre Agassi, Blake Mycoskie, Eric Schmidt, Jessica Alba, John Legend, Reed Hastings, Kobe Bryant, Ted Turner, Peter Thiel, Richard Branson, Quentin Tarantino -- the list goes on and on. In MAKE NO SMALL PLANS, they reveal the lessons and insights on how every one of us can achieve our dreams in life and in our careers.

In a series of high octane motivational chapters, the Summit founders show us how to dreamer bigger; how to overpromise and overdeliver; how to look bigger than you are; how to win the support and sponsorship of others; why we shouldn't worry about mistakes; about the need for aggressive curiosity; and why we need to stand for something and build a community.

Elliot Bisnow, Brett Leve, Jeff Rosenthal and Jeremy Schartz, former college classmates, are the founding entrepreneurs behind Summit, the leadership organization that hosts elite conversations with the world's leading entrepreneurs, founders, CEOs, and activists on how to change the world.

DOUBLE DOWN

Bet Against the Status Quo. Go All-In on You. Be Successful on Your Terms: A Remixed Rule Book for Badass Boss Ladies

Antoinette M. Clarke and Tricia Clarke-Stone

September 2019

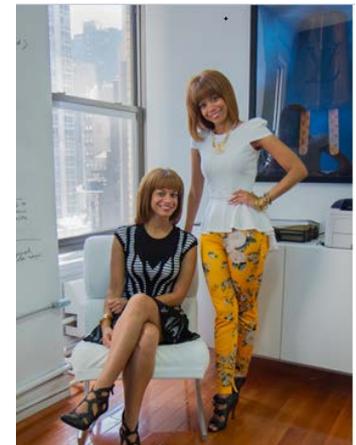

Rights: World

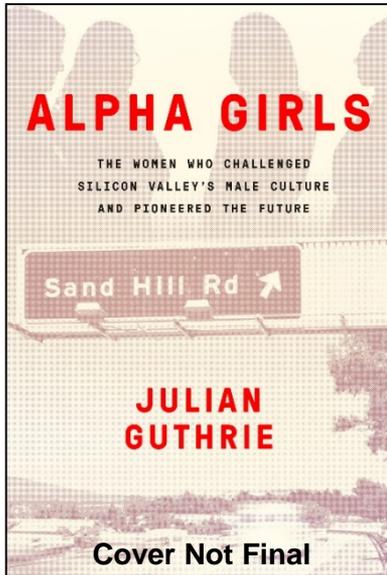

Ever since they were girls, Tricia and Antoinette have always pushed each other to be the best version of themselves. As identical twins who grew up sharing a wardrobe, they had to learn to find ways to differentiate themselves. You have to spot the areas where you have an edge--the qualities that make you indispensable--and double down on them. Then, you need to surround yourself with people who will add value to the hand you've been dealt: a tribe of badass Boss Ladies who will cheer you on, set you straight, and always have your back.

Today, as high-powered executives in the world of media, Tricia and Antoinette are ready to share this wisdom with the next generation of women looking to make their mark. Full of their best tips and most status-quo busting tactics - from how to showcase your value, to how to leverage your cultural intelligence, to how to cultivate a loyal and diverse "ride-or-die" crew- DOUBLE DOWN will inspire you to hustle harder, shine brighter, and bank more.

This is a book for any woman ready to become successful on her own terms. It's for any woman sick of being told to wait her turn, pay her dues, follow the rules. It's for any woman who is done listening to that voice that warns her not to raise her hand or speak up, and for any woman who refuses to accept the Status Quo as it manifests as fear and self-doubt.

Antoinette M. Clarke and Tricia Stone-Clarke each boast their own set of impressive contacts in both traditional and new media. They have relationships at all the major lifestyle/women's magazines and with many powerful social influencers. They have been featured in O Magazine, Elle, Marie Claire, Fast Company and more.

ALPHA GIRLS

The Women of Sand Hill Road Who Challenged Silicon Valley's Male Culture and Pioneered the Future

Julian Guthrie

May 2019

Rights: World (Polish rights sold by The Gersh Agency)

Illustrations: 8-page 4 color photo insert

In the bestselling vein of Hidden Figures, Alpha Girls is reporter Julian Guthrie's powerful account of five women pioneers in the field of venture capital who bucked the system and found ways to survive and thrive in the cutthroat, high-stakes, male-dominated world of Silicon Valley.

The closed doors investment decisions made by venture capitalists have the power to fund new startups and shape our economy, technology and our world. They have enabled the very existence of many of the world's most profitable companies. Known for their risk taking and prescient investments, the VC community has reaped tens of billions of dollars, and has become the envy of Wall Street. Yet thanks to the "bro-grammer culture" that rules the VC world, it is a cabal that is almost a foreign country for women. A mere six percent of general partners at VC firms are women; roughly eighty percent of VC firms have never had a woman general partner.

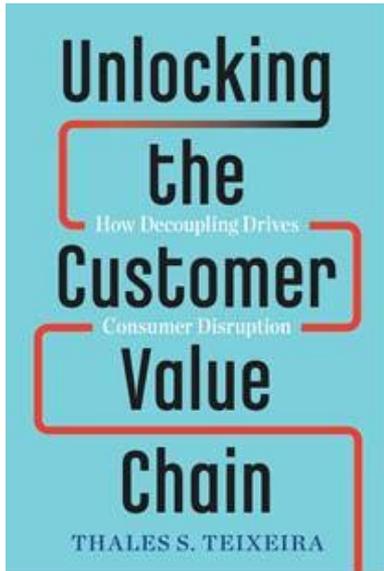

But there are a few. Armed with unprecedented access to the secretive VC universe, Guthrie uncovers one of the great untold stories of the digital era. Against all odds, a small cadre of women--pioneers that Guthrie calls the "alpha girls"--have determinedly made their way despite harassment, second class citizenship, and men stealing the credit and the rewards, to become powerhouses of the finance world. Through their grit and smarts and determination they helped to launch the IPO's of some of the biggest tech firms. In Alpha Girls, Guthrie tells their story.

UNLOCKING THE CUSTOMER VALUE CHAIN

How Decoupling Drives Consumer Disruption

Thales Teixeira

February 2019

Rights: World

Based on six years of research, Harvard Business School professor Thales Teixeira shows how and why industries are disrupted, and what established companies can do to respond -- as well as what potential startups must master if they hope to gain a competitive edge.

As it turns out, there is a pattern to disruption in an industry, whether the disruptor is Uber, Airbnb or a dozen other startups that have shaken up incumbents and threatened the status quo. For disruptors to pose a threat to an industry, they have to successfully break the link in choosing, purchasing or consuming a product or service. Upstarts, Teixeira shows, do not attempt to compete with or overtake a reigning incumbent company entirely. Instead, they work to peel away a portion of the consumer decision-making process, the way Birchbox offered women a new way to sample new beauty products from a variety of cosmetics and fragrance companies, without having to go to the Revlon or Estée Lauder store. Zipcar doesn't attempt to compete head to head with GM, but rather to offer people who need transportation an alternative way to get around, without owning a car themselves, or being responsible for fuel, maintenance, or insurance.

In a penetrating narrative filled with case studies and stories, Teixeira shows us how start-ups successfully disrupt industries -- and what industry leaders must do to avoid being disrupted and protect their domain.

CREATIVE TRESPASSING

How to Put the Spark and Joy Back into Your Work and Life

Tania Katan

February 2019

Rights: World

Looking to infuse more imagination, purpose, and joy into your life and work? Then look no further. Tania Katan, a keynote speaker, coach and consultant, shows readers how to boldly sneak creativity into even the most humdrum job.

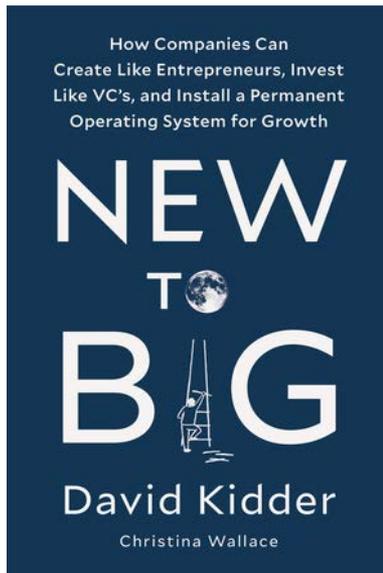

You don't have to turn into a lame corporate drone in order to kick ass in the working world, says Tania Katan. After more than ten years of smuggling creativity into the business sector without getting busted, Tania's learned that any task or pursuit can be a creative one. But we need to be willing to break the rules, disrupt the norms, and color outside the lines to create fertile ground for fresh new opportunities, ideas and insights to emerge. Creativity, imagination, originality: these are our greatest professional assets in today's world, Katan says. Once we learn to celebrate the things that make us stand out - with all our quirks and flaws - is when we truly shine.

With her edgy, irreverent, sassy, and utterly unique voice, Tania shows us how to bridge the gap between what we do and who we are, and put the spark back into our nine-to-five. This book is bursting with personality, attitude, and energy—a perfect read for fans of *The Subtle Art of Not Giving a F*ck* or You Are a Badass.

NEW TO BIG

How Established Businesses Can Grow Like Startups

David Kidder and Christina Wallace

March 2019

Rights: World English (Translation rights with David Black Agency)

In New to Big, start-up guru David Kidder and the Bionic team reveal their blueprint for helping companies recapture their growth skills -- by funding a portfolio of start-ups and monitoring their progress to encourage entrepreneurship within companies.

When David Kidder was invited to speak at GE's annual leadership conference in 2012, he yelled down to chairman and CEO Jeff Immelt, "How many $50 million companies did you launch last year?" The answer was zero. But Immelt, rather than being angry or offended at the interruption, candidly said to his teams, "That was the most important question in the thirty-seven years of this conference." The fact is, as Kidder shows in The Growth OS, entrenched thinking and outdated bureaucracy is at war with new ideas.

Yet, of the top five companies by market cap in 2001, only Microsoft remains, in 2016. Traditional companies have tumbled off the list.

To think like a scaled start-up, companies today need to look for markets that haven't been discovered or created yet. They need to identify a customer problem, and work backward from the outside in to discover a business model for that solution. New to Big is designed to instill the mindsets, methods and tools that veteran venture investors and experienced entrepreneurs use to discover the future in the face of the unknowable. But even most bets placed by VC's fail, more than 80% of the time. That is why you need a portfolio of investments, and a growth board to measure the progress of each business, only continuing to fund those that show validated progress.

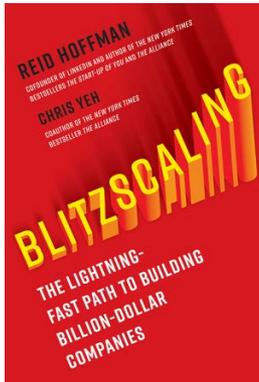

David Kidder is an entrepreneur with a wide range of web-based application expertise focused on social, mobile, and digital advertising. He is the co-founder and CEO of Bionic, an enterprise social innovation platform. Kidder is a graduate of the Rochester Institute of Technology, and received ID Magazine's International Design Award and Ernst and Young's Entrepreneur of the Year Award in 2008.

THE METABOLISM RESET DIET

Repair Your Liver, Stop Storing Fat, and Lose Weight Naturally

Alan Christianson

January 2019

Rights: World

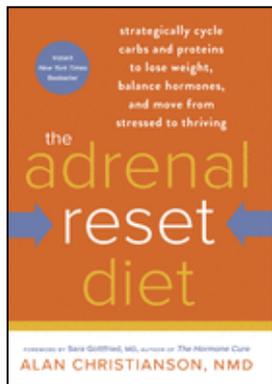

Trim: 6-1/8 x 9-1/4 in

Illustrations: Charts, roughly 50 recipes

A new book from the author of The Adrenal Reset Diet. The Metabolism Reset Diet will be based around Dr. Alan Christianson's four-week plan, a fasting process that resets and cleanses the liver, which in turn can help readers lose weight, increase immune function and cognition, and even reverse diabetes. High blood sugar is caused by damage to the pancreas and liver, which is why some people still struggle with weight loss and lowering blood sugar, even if they cut out sugar and carbs.

Christianson uses intermittent fasting over a four-week period of time to cleanse the liver and reboot health and weight loss. His fasting is less extreme than many calorie restriction plans and produces the same overall health results. The program has been clinically proven to reverse diabetes and help people drop 15 pounds in as few as four weeks. Cleansing the liver two or three times a year using this fast will help readers reboot their system and result in improved long-term health. The book will include recipes, meal plans, a four-week exercise plan, and a maintenance chapter.

Trade Paperback Original with flaps

Jonathan Aviv, renowned ENT physician and author of The Acid Watcher Diet, supplies readers with new recipes and advice on how to stay acid-free and reverse inflammation for optimal health.

The Acid Watcher Diet helped readers identify little-known symptoms of acid reflux and cure them with a two-phase eating plan that worked to immediately neutralize acid and relieve the inflammation at the root of acid reflux. Acid Watchers cut out foods that can cause inflammation like processed foods, citrus fruits, tomato, vinegar, and onion. With these 100 new recipes and 40 4-color food photos, acid reflux sufferers will be able to stay on track while broadening the list of foods they can eat, by combining acidic foods like garlic with alkaline foods so that their acidity is neutralized.

Recipes will follow the guidelines of Dr. Aviv's plan and promote healthy choices, including a healthy balance of proteins, carbs, and fats, along with helpful antioxidants and vitamins. Readers will also find an easy recap of the 28-day Acid Watcher program, with meal plans, food lists, and advice for those who need more guidance. Dietary acid damage is one of the foremost health challenges today, affecting more people than heart disease, diabetes, and celiac disease. The incidence of acid reflux and gastrointestinal reflux disease (GERD) has more than doubled since 1995 and continues to be on the rise (as is esophageal cancer, to which they are strongly linked. More than 1.4 billion people worldwide suffer from acid reflux, and this cookbook will further equip readers with the recipes they need to keep acid reflux at bay.

THE FATE OF FOOD

What We'll Eat in a Bigger, Hotter, Smarter World

Amanda Little

April 2019

Rights: World

In this fascinating look at the race to secure the global food supply, environmental journalist and professor Amanda Little tells the defining story of the sustainable food revolution as she weaves together stories from the world's most creative and controversial innovators on the front lines of food science, agriculture, & climate change.

Climate models predict that global food production will decline every decade for the rest of this century due to drought, heat, and flooding. With water and food shortages looming globally, the search for new methods of supplying water and food is on. THE FATE OF FOOD will be the first book to connect the categories of food science, innovation, and climate change and tell the defining story of the sustainable food revolution that aims to feed 9 billion people in a hotter, smarter world.

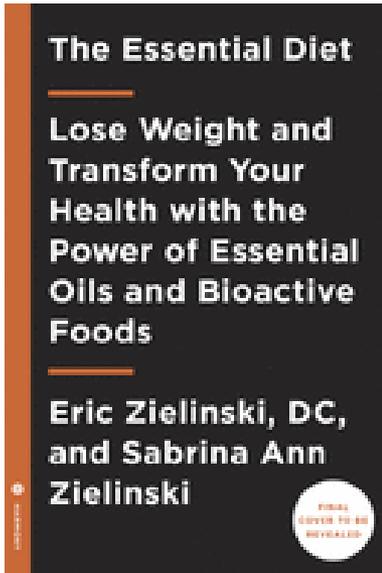

From dairy farms in India where microchips embedded in cow flanks transmit real-time data about the animals' health and milk quality to the fields of Nigerian farmers who are growing the world's first drought-tolerant rice, THE FATE OF FOOD tells the story of human innovation through food, examining both old and new approaches to food production and their costs and benefits in an era of climate change.

Amanda Little, environmental journalism professor at Vanderbilt University, seeks to answer questions such as: Can GMOs actually be good for the environment? What are the most sustainable, long-term sources of protein? What would it take to eliminate harmful chemicals from farming and processed foods? Her investigation takes her to the most extreme frontiers of modern food production and tells the stories of the most creative and controversial innovators, such as the engineering whiz who grew up on a farm in Peru and later developed robots that can weed and manage pests on crops, or the chemical engineer who developed membranes that can transform ocean brine and even sewage into hyper-pure drinking water.

THE ESSENTIAL DIET

Lose Weight and Transform Your Health with the Power of Essential Oils and Bioactive Foods

Eric Zielinski and Sabrina Ann Zielinski

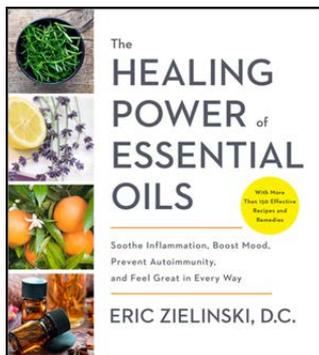

May 2019

Rights: World

In The Essential Diet, Eric Zielinski, D.C., bestselling author of The Healing Power of Essential Oils, and Sabrina Ann Zielinski, introduce the first diet program that harnesses essential oils and bioactive foods for rapid weight loss.

The immediate success of Dr. Z's first book, The Healing Power of Essential Oils, showed how people are hungry to heal their bodies with essential oils. As this market continues to grow, word is getting out that you can consume these powerful plant compounds and tap into their power to help you lose weight. The Essential Diet teaches readers how bioactive plant compounds--those found in essential oils and in foods like matcha green tea, chia seeds, almonds, and avocados--can aid in weight loss, boost energy levels, and trigger the body's natural immune defenses to fight chronic diseases like type 2 diabetes and autoimmunity.

The book includes a two-phase program to lose up to 20 pounds in just one month and heal the digestive tract for rapid weight loss and improved health. Step 1 is the Essential Fast Track, a 30-day program that features an essential oil-infused eating plan (think grapefruit oil for fat burning; peppermint, cinnamon, and black pepper oils to reduce cravings; and thyme and rose for gut healing) and daily essential oil practices. Step 2 is the Essential Lifestyle phase, a maintenance program that allows for a wider array of bioactive foods. The book will include 75 recipes, including Healing Lemon Oil Cooler, Mama Z's Rose Quinoa Porridge, No-Bake Cardamom Chocolate Oatmeal Cookies, and more.

INSTANT LOSS COOKBOOK

Cook Your Way to a Healthy Weight with 125 Easy and Delicious Recipes for Your Instant Pot®, Electric Pressure Cooker, and Multicooker

Brittany Williams

October 2018

Rights: World

Trade Paperback Original

Trim:7-3/8 x 9-1/8 in

Illustrations: 40-50 full-color photos

From the utterly charming blogger who lost over 125 pounds in one year by making all her meals in her Instant Pot, 125 fast, easy, and tasty electric pressure cooker recipes for anyone looking to lose weight.

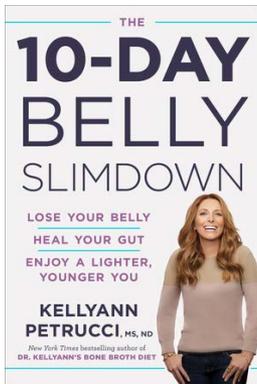

Brittany Williams had struggled with her weight all her life. She grew up eating the standard American staples--fast, frozen, fried, and processed--and hit a peak weight of 260 pounds. When her 4-year-old daughter's autoimmune disease was alleviated by a low-sugar, dairy-free, grain-free, whole-food-based diet, Brittany realized she owed her own body the same kind of healing. So on January 1, 2017, she vowed to make every meal for a year from scratch, aided by her new Instant Pot. She discovered that the versatility, speed, and ease of the electric pressure cooker made creating wholesome, tasty, family-satisfying meals a breeze, usually taking under 30 minutes. Not only did the family thrive over the course of the year, Brittany lost an astonishing 125 pounds.

Illustrated with almost 50 full-color photos, Instant Loss Cookbook shares the 125 recipes and meal plans that Brittany used for her own weight loss, 75% of which are recipes for the Instant Pot or other multicooker. These recipes are whole food-based with a spotlight on veggies, and mostly dairy and grain-free--and she uses ingredients that you can find at any grocery store. Her ingredient lists are refreshingly approachable, and her recipes are the clearest guides to navigating your Instant Pot or other multicooker that you'll find. Here's how to make healthy eating convenient--the key to sustainable weight loss.

Brittany Williams, a mother of three, blogger and self-proclaimed lover of food, decided to make a big change in her diet by removing processed snacks, takeout and high-calorie meals from her family's menus. And she replaced those foods with healthier meals she could make in her Instant Pot.

A Personal Guide to Ultimate Transformation, Peak Experiences, and Revolutionizing How You Live and Work

Deepak Chopra, M.D.

November 2019

Rights: World

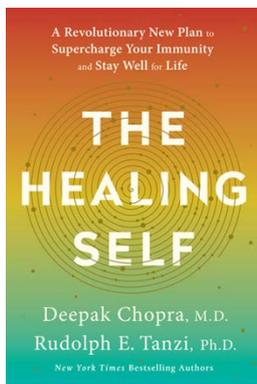

What is higher consciousness and why should it matter to you? The New York Times bestselling author of You Are the Universe helps us unlock our peak human potential, which can positively affect our physical health, our mind and brain, and the deep wells of our spirituality.

What is the state of flow that some of us experience during periods of focus and enlightenment, and how can we tap into those creative reserves to help us to feel more alive? Drawing from the latest on brain research, artificial intelligence, biometrics, and the wisdom traditions of East and West, Deepak Chopra offers a practical program to help us "wake up" on the most intimate and personal levels and activate higher states of consciousness to experience clarity, empathy, and mental acuity.

When flow and higher consciousness become real and valid, human existence takes an evolutionary leap into meta-human existence. This is an urgently needed step in everyone's evolution if we are to solve the pressing problems that face each of us, the human race, and the planet as a whole. Stripped of its old baggage of religious, Eastern, antique associations, enlightenment really comes down to one thing: waking up to reality. As simple as that is, the effect is revolutionary in the life of any person who experiences it.

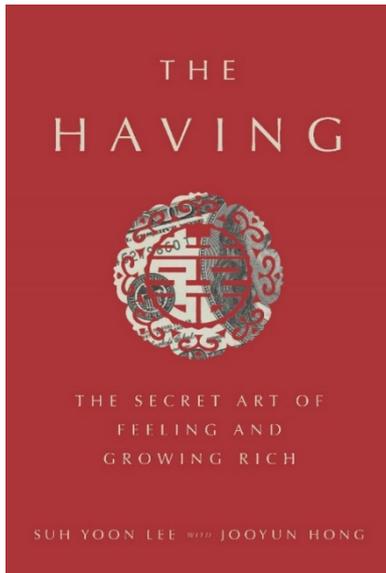

Deepak Chopra is a media and marketing powerhouse. He is a pioneer of integrative medicine and the author of over 85 books published in 43 languages. Many of have been New York Times bestsellers.

THE HAVING

The Secret Art of Feeling and Growing Rich

Joo Yun (Joanne) Hong with Suh Yoon Lee

February 2019

Rights: World (Korean rights with the authors)

When Wharton MBA Joanne Hong went seeking the true secret of creating wealth, she found herself studying under Suh Yoon Lee, a mysterious and famed Korean wealth guru. Here, Joanne shares the lessons she learned in this life-changing narrative that shows readers how to become truly wealthy, in the financial and spiritual sense, by employing the "mentality of the rich," a practice refined over three decades of experience and classical teachings.

Suh Yoon Lee was identified as a wealth guru at the age of six by her grandmother, and set off on a course of study -- ranging from Asian classical texts to economics to an analysis of 100,000 case studies -- to learn the methods for how to become truly rich. Although a bestselling author in South Korea and famed advisor to the 1%, Suh Yoon Lee had retreated into seclusion, troubled by the impact her guidance to the wealthy may have had on income disparity around the world.

Joanne Hong, a journalist, Wharton MBA, and former McKinsey consultant, has devoted her adult life to understanding how to build personal wealth without an inheritance in an era of increasing inequality. She wrote to the guru for an interview, never expecting a response. Instead, the guru invited her to Lake Como, Italy, for a conversation. This invitation set off a life-changing lesson about how anyone can apply the true secret of wealth to their life.

In spectacular destinations ranging from Paris to Tokyo, this intimate narrative traces the growing friendship between these two women in a series of conversations that create a framework for the everyday person to experience the ease and comfort of wealth. Suh Yoon Lee is a beautiful, empathetic woman, and her counterintuitive guidance is premised on the notion that almost all people have the capacity to attain 1 to 3 million dollars--and some have a capacity for much more. And that journey begins with feeling what you already have.

As Joanne applies the guru's practical lessons in her everyday life, she experiences a transformation of her mood, fulfillment and, ultimately, her net worth--a transformation available to anyone who practices the system of Having.

A COURSE IN MEDITATION

September 2019

Rights: World

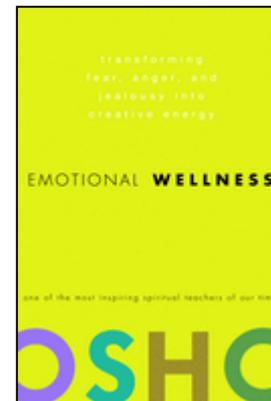

Paperback original

A 21-day experiential course designed to give readers a taste of meditation as it was taught by the contemporary mystic, Osho.

Osho was a mystic and a scientist, a rebellious spirit whose unique contribution to the understanding of who we are defies categorization. His only interest was to alert humanity to the urgent need to discover a new way of living. Osho's understanding was that only by changing ourselves - one individual at a time - can the outcome of all our "selves" - our society, our cultures, our beliefs, our world - also change. The doorway to that change is meditation.

Osho saw how difficult it was for the hyperactive 21st-century mind to just sit silently and watch the breath. Out of this observation, he created new meditations to address the unique challenges of this generation. Presented in easy-to-understand language and an easy-to-navigate format, A COURSE IN MEDITATION includes a 21-day program for applying meditation and mindfulness to release tension and stress of the body and mind in order to relax into an experience of still and silent awareness. Each day of the program introduces a different aspect of meditative living with a simple, practical meditation and an awareness exercise related to the subject of the day.

OSHO has had a resurgence recently thanks to the popular Netflix documentary about him and his followers. Wild Wild Country has just won an Emmy, and is becoming hugely popular around the world. His teachings are back in the mainstream conversation and media, and his books sell steadily throughout the world. He has been published in 58 languages and in 26 territories worldwide. Some of his previous books with Harmony include The Book of Understanding, Being in Love, and Emotional Wellness.

What I've Learned on My Trans Journey

Gigi Gorgeous

April 2019

Rights: World English (Translation rights with Folio Literary Management, LLC)

Trim: 7x10 in

Illustrations: 4/color oversized package with 20-30 photos throughout

With more than 7.6 million followers across platforms, Gigi Gorgeous is the YouTube generation's transgender icon, and this is her story of how she became gorgeous by being true to herself.

Gigi's fans love her outrageous humor, her over-the-top style, her larger-than-life romances, and her glam Hollywood lifestyle. So how did a gawky Canadian teenager named Gregory turn into someone this gorgeous? Here is Gigi's true story about the amazing things that can happen when you are honest with yourself. With humor and heart, Gigi shares ten personal essays that go deeper into her journey than she's ever gone before.

Starting out as a teenage beauty vlogger, she had her first public coming out as a gay man in 2008. After her mother died of cancer in 2012, she realized she needed to live more honestly, embarking on a journey that led to her transition. She explores her struggle with body image and identity; her experience of coming out as a transgender woman and transitioning publicly; her stories of dating and heartbreak, falling in love with both men and women; and her stories from the Young Hollywood social scene and her new role on the frontlines of trans activism. Gigi offers a message about staying true to yourself no matter what, and how doing so will help you succeed beyond your wildest dreams. She has a massive following with 2.7 million YouTube fans; 2.3 million Instagram followers; 2.1 million Facebook fans and 310,000 Twitter followers, with strong engagement.

Gigi Gorgeous is a model, actress, internet personality and a spokesperson for Revlon. In 2017, the documentary This Is Everything: Gigi Gorgeous, starring Lazzarato and produced by acclaimed filmmaker Barbara Kopple, premiered at the Sundance Film Festival and was nominated for an MTV movie award, and Lazzarato was named to the Time magazine list of the 25 most influential people on the Internet.

POSITIVE DISCIPLINE FOR PRESCHOOLERS, Revised 4th Edition

For Their Early Years -- Raising Children Who Are Responsible, Respectful, and Resourceful

Jane Nelsen, Ed.D, Cheryl Erwin, M.A. and Roslyn Ann Duffy

July 2019

Rights: World

Completely updated with the latest research in child development and learning, Positive Discipline for Preschoolers will help parents understand their preschooler and provide early methods to raise a child who is responsible, respectful, and resourceful.

Caring for young children is one of the most challenging tasks an adult will ever face. No matter how much you love your child, there will be moments filled with frustration, anger, and even desperation. There will also be questions: Why does my four-year-old deliberately lie to me? Why is everything a struggle with my three-year-old? Should I ever spank my preschooler when she is disobedient? Over the years, millions of parents have come to trust the Positive Discipline series and its common-sense approach to child-rearing.

This revised and updated fourth edition includes a new chapter on the importance of play and outdoor experiences on child development, along with new information on school readiness, childhood brain growth, and social/emotional learning. You'll also find practical solutions for how to:

- Teach appropriate social skills at an early age
- Avoid the power struggles that often come with mastering sleeping, eating, and potty training
- See misbehavior as an opportunity to teach non-punitive discipline—not punishment

Jane Nelsen, Ed.D., co-author of the bestselling Positive Discipline series, is a licensed marriage, family, and child therapist and an internationally-known speaker. Her books have sold over 1.25 million copies.

Cheryl Erwin, M.A., is a licensed marriage and family therapist in Reno, Nevada, and is the author or co-author of nine books on parenting and family life. She is a popular speaker, trainer, and parenting radio personality.

Roslyn Ann Duffy founded and co-directed the Learning Tree Montessori Childcare, and has written adult and children's texts, as well as the internationally circulated column 'From A Parent's Perspective.' She lectures and trains in numerous cultures, is a parent to four and besotted Grandma to three, and lives and practices counseling in Seattle, WA.

Philia Kelnhofer

February 2019

Rights: World

Trim: 7-1/2 x 8-1/4 in

Illustrations: 125 recipes, 40-50 4/color photos

Trade Paperback Original

Mommy blogger Philia Kelnhofer is an expert at cooking up simple and nutritious meals for on-the-go families. But when it came time for her to introduce first foods to her baby, she went through a period day of trial and error. After making a mass batch of sweet potatoes only to see them spoil before her baby could eat more than a few tablespoons, she tried out the baby food maker, which steams and blends in one canister and makes small, baby-sized quantities of food. In ten minutes she had created delicious purées perfect for her baby--from a scrumptious apple cinnamon combo to a beet and carrot concoction.

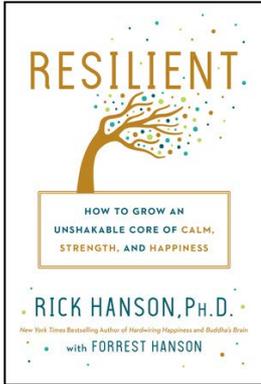

The Baby Food Maker Cookbook is the perfect resource for parents who want to know what to feed the newest eaters in their families. Illustrated with 40-50 beautiful photographs, the cookbook will offer 125 recipes, organized by the timeframe for introducing foods over the first 12 months. There's also introductory material including a guide to using the baby food maker, nutrition information for introducing first foods, and a calendar for tracking food introduction

Each recipe works for the most popular Baby Food Maker devices while also being flexible for a stovetop or a food processor. And Phi even includes recipes for adults, showcasing the surprising versatility of the device. <https://sweetphi.com/>

Philia Kelnhofer, a new mom and food blogger, is all about making mealtime a little easier for other busy people through simple and delicious recipes. She lives in Milwaukee, Wisconsin with her family, where she works full-time at natural products company True Botanica. Now that she's a mom, she's also dedicated her time to cooking up quick and healthy recipes for her newest and littlest member of her family.

"Rick Hanson is a perfect guide for these times. In Resilient, he is both wise and scientific, practical and expansive. He names the often unconscious tilt toward negativity that so many of us have and a way to rewire our brains—and therefore, our entire orientation to being alive. His words are so reassuring, so useful, so easy to implement even when we think it and we are hopeless. If we are to make it through these challenging times, it will be by being resilient—and have Resilient by our sides."
