Further Energy Information Development Series (13 Books) Overview

Dmitry Sergeyeovich Verishagin is the author of over 10 books about 'DEIR' system (FEID, Further Energy Information Development), who was involved in research and development of this method in Russia in 1980-s.

The DEIR System is an integral system of achieving harmony and health. It was initiated by the USSR top party officials as a classified project, back in the late 1980-s. The system is based on conscious management of energy flowing.

The collection of books telling about these discoveries contains around 20 titles, and enjoy a lot of success both in Russia and other countries. Since the first work was completed in 1995, the books have been re-issued several times and sold over 1,000,000 copies altogether.

Some books have been written or co-authored by Kirill Titov. Kirill Valentinovich Titov is a founder and Director of The DEIR School and author of books about the method. He is a medical doctor (oncologist), President of International Academy of Information and High Technology Development, and head of Higher School of Psychosocial Management Technologies.

The DEIR School (School of Further Energy Information Development)

The DEIR School was founded in January 1999; its main task is to help the students achieve success in the society. All the methods are based on Dmitry Verishagin's research, which is grounded on interface psychology and was once part of the state defense programs of the former USSR. The results of this research are given in books about the DEIR system.

The School acquaints the students with methods of energy information interaction with the environment. The School members study sensing energy fields, feeling their own energy, protecting themselves from outer influences. Apart from that, the School introduces the goal achievement programs, teaches how to affect your social environment, enhance your intuition and creativity, master luck attraction techniques, charisma evolvment, etc. The skills that the students learn at school might be applied in psychology, medicine, pedagogics, business and politics.

Description:

Charisma is a gift of Gods, a feature of rulers. Since ancient times, people have believed that charisma is only possessed by those bringing changes and new ideas to the world. It is true that only those who had this quality were able to realize the changes. Charisma is not a gift in its finished form, but some qualities that attract attention and suppress the will of other people. It makes the power of one's actions limitlessly high and equal to efforts of a lot of people. Therefore, this quality can be developed.

This manual is based on the experience and technologies of the DEIR School, taught during a famous workshop on creating personal charisma. Over time and with some practice, your abilities will improve and you will be able to control the process of influencing other people.

Obviously, not everyone wants to develop this quality, but if you feel you wish to achieve success in the world of people, this book might be very helpful.

Description:

This book is the first book about practical work with egregors. It is a new and much anticipated work by Dmitry Verishagin, who is professionally involved in researching energy information world.

The egregors are energy information organisms, unconsciously created by human thoughts. They are omnipresent structures of tremendous complexity and power. Egregors invisibly rule everything that happens in the society and feed on the energy that is released. They are dangerous for people who don't know about them, because they suppress the free evolvment of a natural individual, replacing it with the gregarious aspirations of the crowd.

If you know how to handle egrerors, they can become a great tool letting you get energy and information. You will affect all the sides of daily life, look into the depths of universal consciousness and broaden your horizons. This book gives advice to those who want to live at the level when they are no longer controlled by egregors but know how to use them.

Description:

This is a new book about Further Energy Information Development from the DEIR School. It is commonly believed any crisis has its positive side. It encourages the stagnate and routinely stable society to move on. Although for most ordinary people the world crisis might turn into a personal tragedy, it still gives us a chance to largely improve our life.

We all live in an energy information world. Apart from people, there are some energy information entities, the living ideas, or the so-called 'egregors' playing their own part. It is the egregors' layer of our world that is in fact essential.

Kirill Titov, the President of the famous DEIR School, has worked out and described a special program of using the energy of crisis to the benefit of humanity and every individual.

The book will teach you how:

- to gain control over the egregors' layer, rather than just obey its rules,
- to find source of new ideas and increase the egregors' layer,
- to monitor energy information vibrations and alterations of the social, economic and political life of the world.

The book will make it easy to learn some new skills and techniques in order to overcome the crisis. It will help you to get through any economic or political challenges.
