

As of today, I started to work within Turkish Press and Publishers Copyright & Licensing Society (TBYM) as International Relations Director.

I took over the tasks in the Istanbul Fellowship program, which is a comprehensive organization initiated in 2016 with the aim of increasing the mutual cooperation between Turkish publishers and world publishers and making Istanbul a copyright market.

Istanbul Fellowship makes Istanbul the center of the Publishing world once again. With the new mixed model of the 6th Istanbul Fellowship Program, which is revised according to pandemic conditions, with physical and online participation options, the cross-border journey of the books will continue without slowing down.

Our International Istanbul Fellowship Program applications will start on October 26, 2020, and you can contact me about any issue you may encounter.

In addition, as the International Relations Commission, I will be sharing with you online meetings and trainings where we will organize the developments in the publishing world, informations about International Arabic Book Fair and other new international events and organizations.

With kind regards.
