About the Book:

The martyr Aazam Shafahi, was born in the city of Nahavand in 1954 in Nahavand. Her parents brought her up to be religious. She dropped out of elementary school. (She did not continue her post-elementary level), and started helping her mother in the factory where she worked. She got married early and had five children. She brought them up and trained them. She was martyred during an air raid at her home in the year 1985. The book narrates 22 memories of her life and conduct, quoting her siblings, relatives, and acquaintances. And the author has been able to narrate them in a fluent language.

Book Excerpt:

A woman, who suffered from a contagious disease, loitered on the streets of Nahavand of those days. She who had mental retardation was dirty, disorderly and disorientated. Wherever she appeared, people avoided her and walked away. They feared her. They detested her. People found her disgusting. But there was one who was not like the rest. She showed the sick woman her compassion, sympathy, and affection. She came to her to help her and brought her food. For example, she would sit at her side like a kind mother and would show her mercy and love. She offered her what she had been deprived of: love. There was no day when the sun would set, and my sister would forget to fetch that woman's food. For the first time in her life, the one who loitered around Nahavand learned from Azam what compassion is and how powerful it is.
