"Gongs are ringing" is a love story featuring a Christian priest living in Moscow. He has many old books and manuscripts and loves this task. When an old version is delivered to him by a Tajik man, he is interested to buy the book from him, but the Tajik man gets killed and from here on, the Russian priest steps into a path that leads to getting familiar with The Imam of The Pious, Amir al-Mo'menin Ali (as).

A young Tajik man offers to sell a book to the priest which he claims belongs to 1400 years ago. The priest that does not believe such a book might exist at all borrows it for a review. When the young Tajik man is murdered by two Russian youngsters who were going to steal the book from him, the priest recognizes the actual value of the book. Since then, the priest was also at risk. Initial investigation shows that the first part of the book is the handwriting of a man by the name of Amroas who had scribbled something on ancient Egyptian Papyrus paper about a war called Saffein and about men like Moavie and Ali. What is important to the priest, is the historical background of the book, but in the middle of the night when he is reading the book, in fact, or a dream, the Prophet Jesus (PBUH) appears to him while holding a baby in his arms. The theist gives the baby to the priest and asks him to take good care of it. Since then, the priest thinks that there should be a link between this book and the order of the Prophet Jesus (PBUH). So, in the meantime, while taking care of the book, he decides to read more about the main character of the book, namely Ali (as).

The theory ends with the apprehension of the crime who murdered the Tajik man and robbed the church and the priest's house, and the priest who has retrieved the missing peace returns to Moscow along with his wife.

"Gongs are ringing" novel, although a tale of religious and historical appearance which represents events during the rule of Imam Ali (as); has a non-historical narration and it is mostly an analytical-historical work. The events contained in it, are like a puzzle that, when stacked together, form the overall structure of the novel. One of the book's features is the adventure that has become a platform to review the historical narrative of the book. The existence of multiple authors in the historical book, who narrate the stories from their perspectives sometimes from opposing sides, has overcome the monotony and the reader gets absorbed in the different outlooks. The author of this work has tried to depict the meaning of the Islamic Government from the perspective of Ali (as). He has used the streaming mental flow and return to the past as the angle of view from which the story is presented. "Gongs are ringing" could be regarded as the result of a pure intention, artistic commitment, and historical accuracy that can be an appropriate option for study.

A Jewish man, on behalf of his noble master who was affiliated with the Committee or the Supreme Council of the Jews, is sent to Mecca as an agent or spy to collect information about the life and prophetic proclamations of an Arab man from an idol worshipping tribe, who presented himself as a follower of Ibrahim Khalil. The Jewish man is commissioned to stop such proclamation by any available means. Even to kill the Prophet or if he doesn't deem the murder viable, shatter Muhammad's (PBUH) religion with the help of his friends in Yasreb. The agent acts according to the order of his superior and sends his word-of-mouth reports related to the Prophet. The mission takes ten years and the agent, despite all seeds of hatred and hypocrisy dispersed among Muslims, cannot succeed, and defeated and tired, abandons his wife and child, and returns. And that is not possible, except with the unity of the Prophet (PBUH) and his comrades and their articulated reactions in response to every plot and planned division.

This is a realistic story. We are facing a real and truthful tale. But this real story has its subsets. First, it is a historical and religious story and next, by the nature of the story it is a tale of beliefs. The language is simple indent and unofficial with its special charm. The narrative is linear and goes through the text without any kind of deconstruction in context. The author's exploitation of the type of language and its relationship with the old date of the issue has made the text fresh and special more than anything else. In this novel, representation of the character is preferred to its description, and the author, instead of repeated explanation and description, shows off all the character's attributes ranging from mood and temperament, behavior, behavior, language, dialect, religion, etc. and through this, the character in its true meaning, I disclosed.

The city was under immense suppression. There was not any kind of freedom or democracy in the city and the Mayor died. There was a tailor in the city that had read many forbidden books and was aware of freedom of speech and human dignity. He was trying to make his poet friend the Mayor of the city implement reforms in the society.

“The Honorable Mayor” is a sociopolitical story with humorous nature. To put it more simply, the author has used satirical prose to express the most serious, and perhaps the most sensitive political, social, and even economic comments in the form of a story to the audience. It is the tail of a large city that enters a new period of appointing a new mayor with the death of the past Mayor. "The Honorable Mayor" is allegorical and satirical. A novel that looks at the social, political, and economic reality in one of the neighboring countries in the language of parables that criticizes and expresses his corrective perspectives about governance and social code of conduct. The story is set in a never-never land, the characters are nameless and are known only by their social standing and job. Suspense has been used well in the story and the type of the (omniscient) narrator's expression and prediction of the story pushes the reader from one chapter to the next. The eloquence of narration language, selecting chapters with attractive headings as well as a good viewing angle has helped the writer to be able to narrate a story with explicit beauty and of course with fluency.

Three college friends: Seyed Hossein, Hamed, and Amir who are revolutionary guys go to the battlefield. The first is hit by shrapnel and gets injured; the second is captured, and the third one lands an administrative job and becomes rich. Seyed marries a girl who is the daughter of a rich Bazaar shopkeeper. Despite being a veteran with seventy percent disability, he writes a computer-assisted novel entitled "Ashkane" and finally, he dies as a result of mortar blast damage at a time when his wife is still pregnant. Hamed, after the hardships endured through his years of captivity and the end of the war, returns to Tehran and marries a widow called "Afsaneh" who has two children. Amir pursues the path to corruption and gets rich and marries another woman but after his crimes are revealed, he gets arrested and jailed.

"Ashkane" novel is a long story about the life, love, and death of an Iranian militant. The source of the story "Ashkane" and similar stories is sacrifice, love, and martyrdom. The most important concept that is seen in the book "Ashkane", after the concept of love and martyrdom, is the concept of justice. This concept is both very important and longstanding in Iranian religious and political tradition. Fictional entities in "Ashkane" also often seek justice, support the meek, and want to establish a utopia free of disease, poverty, and injustice. Most of the book describes the sensational love between Ashkane and Seyyed Hossein. Even though the love as depicted here surpasses reality, however, it is probable and its instances have been observed.

The author, in writing his novel, has also applied a somewhat recent technique. This trick depicts coherence and contrast between what goes on in the perceptions of the Iraqi Sergeant and Seyed Hossein. He also thinks about a girl from whom he has articulated a light and shade image and must ask her hand in marriage.

The main character of the novel is a teenage boy named Elias. He loves Sephora, the great Khan's daughter (Khan is a prominent figure in the big village). The story begins with a murder. Elias's elder brother is murdered on his wedding night. Unknown men invade the wedding ceremony, kill him and kidnap the bride. Elias as well as the rest of the villagers know well that this is the work of Khan's son who has been long in love with the bride.

Elias's family complains to the police, but the police, under the influence of Khan, fail to do anything. Elias decides to fight against the Khan and his son. Not only he strives to take revenge but also rescue his sister-in-law from the captivity in the Khan's residence. But he cannot fight the ruthless regime of the government, so instead, he burns down Khan's cereals warehouse. The incident is revealed so Elias's father has no choice but to reluctantly send him to Tehran to stay with his uncle.

Elias goes to high school in Tehran and begins his political struggle (campaign) against the Shah's regime with the help of his friends. With the onset of the Revolution, the struggle intensifies and he is arrested, tortured, and abused by SAVAK. After his release from prison, helped by his father he returns to the village after the Islamic Revolution due to the persistence of Elias the Khan and his son are arrested and sent to prison to do their time

This novel is written for the teenage age group and describes the events during the feudalism era (peasants and masters) in Turkmen-Sahra. The purpose of this story is to convey the great and profound sense of justice. In this story, a village teenager whose life is entangled with the toils and suffering of a typical villager's livelihood, although too young achieves great incredible tasks (in his rural climate).

The contemporary teenage audience accompanies him through the strange adventures of that era; from the noisy bustling school environment to the prison of SAVAK's Joint Anti-Sabotage Committee, from Khan's home to the American Embassy. The story has a simple narrative, but the adventures that the young Elias (who is a teenager) should go through are great, but coping with them for an adolescent is not so easy. But Elias, far from the usual heroism in such stories, loses the ups and downs of life, and to him achieving victory is nothing but a continuation of the path (perseverance).

24-year-old Shafi Mohammad, who lives in the town of Sistan & Baluchistan, is a member of the Islamic revolution Guards Corps. Shafi Mohammad, under the influence of his militant friends, secretly and frequently goes to the battlefield and returns without the permission of his parents, but when this becomes apparent to others, he has no place among other family and clan members, and friends and acquaintances, and all desert him. Shafi Mohamad entrusts his child to his wife's uncle and his wife and leaves for the front again, getting severely injured, but after the initial treatment, he returns to the front again despite his dire situation. And this time, his hands get severely damaged while neutralizing a mine. Doctors decide that his hands should be amputated. Shafi Mohammad loses both arms and his isolation period start at this time. He inevitably goes to Iranshahr and with the help of Sharif and Haj Kateb (Corps commanders) marries a girl called "Bmah" the daughter of a martyr. The two share a small room and live in the same city, but the happiness and calm heaves filled their lives in this short do not last. There is a fierce war at the front and Shafi Mohammad cannot stand staying by the side of his wife...e goes to the front again while his wife is pregnant and suffers from a chronic disease. After Shafi Mohammad's departure, Bmah's sickness exacerbates. Her conditions get worse because of blood cancer and giving birth to his son whom they call "Kheyr Mohammad (Kehyrok)". She prefers isolation in the corner of the bleak hut. The surrounding people do not understand her. Based on their native and regional beliefs, they think "Zar" possessed Shafi Mohammad's body. Finally, along with a backpack of sorrows, he decides to visit his son Kehyrok and goes to Mashad.

The novel "Root in Depth" is arranged into 22 chapters of which 11 chapters are narrated in omniscient style, and 11 chapters in theatrical soliloquy style. The narration methods applied to the novel in no way indicate the existence of a variety of voices. In both styles, this is the author speaks based on a unique reality. The interpretation type does not differ from chapters that are narrated in theatrical soliloquy style. A major problem of Shafi's personality is his mental duality against his lifestyle. He is a poor Sunni religion Balochi, a married man, and a desperate disabled person. Life has shown its harsh and painful facets to him.

Sufi and the enchanted Lamp

Sufi was a 13-year-old lad who dreamt of owning a horse. He had a sheep, which he took to the desert every day. One day the sheep's leg hits a metal object. Sufi picks up the object and notices that it is a magic lamp. The magic lamp helps Sufi to have a horse and Sufi participates in a horse riding race but cannot win. Sufi's mother gets ill and the doctor says Sufi's mother must undergo an operation and the fee is very high, but once again the magic lamp helps Sufi. Sufi decides to participate again in the horse races and he wins the race. When they take Sufi's mother to the doctor once again, the doctor says a miracle has happened and there is no need an for operation and his mother's condition is quite well. Although Ghafoor, son of Tvaq Haji, is in the same age group as Sufi and they do not go along well with each other, however S, Sufi endures Ghafoor's sarcasm and bears the responsibility of cleaning the stable and tending to the horses. In the stable, Sufi meets a sick horse that is just a consumer and is unable to get up from its place. Sufi decides to make this horse peppy and pump it up so it becomes suitable for riding like other horses.

The adventures of the book occur amongst the Turkmen tribes and introduce some of their customs. The author is using the ancient legend of the magic lamp and inserts it into the life of a Turkmen teen called Sufi and narrates a fantasy fiction for teens. This novel starts slowly. The author begins the story with Sufi and his parents attending the wheat celebration and simultaneously with this start, introduces the story characters from the dialogues of its main hero, Sufi. The normal life adventures of Sufi are transformed by strange events. Sufi finds a magic lamp in which a baby giant resides. From the moment of meeting Sufi, the baby giant puts an end to his expectations and says that the magic lamp giant jinni who makes all wishes come true is a fantasy and kids must strive to realize their dreams. They must recognize the magical power of their soul and use it duly. The story plot is simple and clear.

Gissoo, a Slim Afghani girl, one day finds a magic lamp that is considered a savior angel. It changes her life. And through adventures that take place, she finds guidelines for her life. However, this magic lamp does not have any magic. But it only helps children how to live a better life. Since then, after people heard Gissoo's story, they wished the story's magic lamp to appear in their lives too, to materialize their dreams. Magic Lamp is a story written by Hassan Beigi, who has combined fiction with reality. The genie of the magic lamp goes to the children who strive to materialize their dreams. This character rather than practically realizing children's dreams helps them on their way to achieving their goals and earning what they wish for.

This story is about an Afghani girl who lives in Iran. Her father goes to Afghanistan to take care of some affairs but fails to return (to Iran). Gissoo is restless and very eager to see her dad. Then a magic lamp appears on her way. Subsequently, an exciting journey takes place to unknown lands. Gissoo and the magic lamp add to attractive adventures with Afghani characters and their fascinating mysterious land. Particularly the leading character of this fiction appears to be an innocent eleven-year-old Afghani girl. In this novel, the hardship of life during war and immigration and the oppressed Afghani children are narrated while describing the destructive war and the unity and attachment of the people as well as POW's small and big wishes during the war and immigration.

This collection contains 5 volumes and in any of its volumes, things happen to The Golden Fish and the fish that live along with it, and the Golden Fish kind of tries to achieve its ends and takes steps to that effect. The collection's titles and a synopsis of each story are as follows:

1-Volume One: Water Means This: The Golden Fish didn't know the meaning of water. It asks the Silver Fish to find the water. They encounter different fish on the way and ask about the water but all of them show surprise and ignorance about the water availability. Until they are caught by fishermen. Since The fish were small, fishermen threw them into the water again. And thanks to that incident, The Golden Fish understands that water means this.

2-Volume Two: We Should Get Help: One of the fish was caught in the fishing net. The Golden Fish tried to take it out but it was unable to do so. It got help other fish. They went inside the net to make it heavy, and thus the fisherman would not be able to pull up the net.

3-Volume Three: Maybe You'll Find It: All fish in the sea were talking with fear about the newcomer's great beast at sea. It was a baby whale that was going mad due to eating a toxic fish and had dropped there badly sick. The Golden Fish found prescribed a species of weed that was an antidote to the fish toxin and administered it to the baby whale.

4-Volume Four: Everywhere Is Green and Blue: The Golden Fish always liked to go to the beach to see how the others live out of the water. One day it was talking to its friend about this when all of a sudden, the sea waves rose and threw them out of the sea inside a hole in Green Hill. The Silver Fish panicked and wept, but the Golden Fish felt happy since now it could watch everything out of the sea.

5-Volume Five: I Will Not come with you: One day The Golden Fish met a little black fish at its grandfather's home. Its father relayed its biography for The Golden Fish. The grandfather said that it was a brave fish that had been living in a small pond in the past, and since it did not like a monotonous life, it had decided to go to the sea despite greater risks. And thereafter, it had decided to go to the ocean. The Golden Fish was happy to hear the biography of the little black fish and accompanied it on a trip to the ocean.

Children enjoy listening to stories in general, particularly about the patterns of personality and behavior as divine prophets are discussed. Such stories are especially useful for children who grow up in religious families and are believers. The awareness of individuals about the lives of these prominent figures is important from the advent of childhood so that they will unconsciously choose the prophets as their role models and their behaviors will inherently become their nature. Thus, the life story of the prophets will have a positive impact on the children's future. Furthermore, children find the story of divine prophets attractive due to the important special events in them. Although many books have already been written about the divine prophets, in writing this 12-volume collection the writer has invented (created) additional characters (which are not real) to the story to make it more interesting. Thus, the book is more effective in achieving its objective.

The little crow is a tale-teller crow. It snoops on other birds' affairs and takes the news of his friends to others. Gradually, its friends stay away from it and no one befriends it. It is alone now. It goes to its mother and wants to know why it has no friends anymore. Its mother tells it that tale-telling is not good and it should not share its friends' words and secrets with others. The little crow decides to stop tale-telling. Henceforth, the little crow returns to the circle of its friends.

The little crow caught a cold and its voice changed. It cannot caw anymore. It says gur, gur . . . its friends try to teach it to caw. The sparrow tells it to say chirp, chirp. The pigeon wants to teach it to say coo, coo, and the frog, ribbit, ribbit, and so on. But the little crow cannot imitate their voice or use them alongside its caw sound. Eventually, its mother keeps it in her nest for a few days so that its cold is healed and can caw again.

In this story, the little crow encounters a white pigeon and wishes it was white all over. It goes to a mill and turns white by rolling inside a sack of flour. But when it goes to its friends, everyone makes fun of it and says that a crow cannot be white. So, they stop playing with it. Finally, the stork explains to it that everyone should be themselves and should not try to be like others.
